Mother Of Child Screen Star "Disappears"

YOUNG HOOVER GETS $4800 IN NEW DEAL AAA CHECKS

POLICE ARE DUBIOUS OF KIDNAP PLOT

Detectives Hint Bartholomew Case May Be Just Publicity Stunt

NEW YORK, April 11.—(UP)—New York police instituted an unexcited one-man search today for Mrs. Lillian Mae Bartholomew, mother of Freddie Bartholomew, boy film star, but said they thought her husband and bar-risters in England were unduly agitated over her "disappearance."

Mrs. Bartholomew landed from the Europa Wednesday armed with introductions to New York law-ymers who were to help her take Freddie and control of his $1500 weekly salary from a Hollywood aunt, went to the Waldorf-Astoria hotel and walked right on out the side door and out of sight.

"Kidnaping" Feared

Her should-have-been New York lawyer, Philip A. Levey, told the missing persons bureau that Cecil Bartholomew, the missing woman's husband, feared she had been "kidnaped or misled."

Levey said he last heard of her as in the company of Joseph G. Hoggis, of London, a broker said to have been an officer of the regiment in which Bartholomew served in the World war.

"I fear something has happened to her," Levey said. "She understood that her London barristers

CALLES HOPES FOR RETURN TO LAND OF BIRTH

DALLAS, Tex., April 11.—(UP)—A haggard, despondent exile, Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles, once Mexico's "strong man," today flew to California to live in hope that he may one day return to the country where he rose from peon to President.

Calles said his deportation yesterday in a surprise purge of oppositionists by President Lazaro Cardenas was because he opposed Communism, "which is ruining the infant industries of Mexico and can lead only to anarchy and chaos."

GRACE LINER MAY BE HELD AT DOCK

SAN PEDRO, Cal., April 11.—(UP)—A tieup of the Grace liner Santa Rosa when she puts into port here Monday from New York im-pended today as result of the South-ern California council of the mari-time federation of the Pacific de-claring the liner "unfair to organi-zed labor."

The decision to boycott the liner was taken at a federation meeting, called at request of the San Fran-cisco council which held that a crew strike called when the liner reached New York was "bona-fide."

Under the local action, union longshoremen will refuse to handle the Santa Rosa's cargo. Officials refused to speculate whether the liner's crew, recruited from inter-national seamen's union ranks, would walk out or agree to take the ship to San Francisco.

Man's Body Is Cut Down From Torture Cross On Hill-Top

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 11.—(UP)—Forty days of self-torture was ended at dawn today for the southwest's strange Penitente cult, when the tortured body of a man was cut down from a cross high on some hill-top in the waste lands of New Mexico.

Today, the last day of Lent, members of the cult were prepar-ing to return to their homes, hav-ing quit rolling on cactus beds, beating themselves, cutting their flesh and otherwise approaching death as closely as possible.

Whether or not the "Cristo," the man strapped and bound to the cross—a sought after honor to all young cult members—was alive or dead today probably will never be known outside the cult.

If dead, he was the object of a most holy funeral on the moun-tain top, perhaps buried in some secret crevice.

If alive, he was lying exalted in the temple of the "Los Herm-inos Da Penitente," being nursed back to whatever health he may hope to attain.

Dead or alive, he will be honored by all Penitentes. A horrible fate awaits any cult member who re-veals the identity of the "Cristo."

The world will hear that he wandered away from home last night. No one will say he is dead. Just missing.

The Lenten festivals of the Pen-itentes were almost over today. Tomorrow, upon completion of the celebrations of the reincarnation, they will return to their house-holds to nurse their wounds, and draw solace from their "religion."

When they have returned home tomorrow, spent from packing

JUDAS BURNED IN EFFIGY BY YAQUIS

GUADALUPE, Ariz., April 11.—(UP)—Judas, betrayer of Christ, was tortured and burned in ef-figy by the Yaqui Indians today as they moved into the final cere-monies of their half-Christian, half-pagan, medieval reenactment of the death and resurrection of Christ.

The betrayer, an effigy stuffed with twigs, straw and firecrack-ers, was dragged by the tribes-men around the weary circle of 14 stations which represented the number of times Christ stopped on his way to Calvary and death. The effigy was followed by the masked "Fariseos" (Pharisees) who hurled insults and jibes at him and dance weirdly to the thump of goatskin drums and squealing fife.

At the end of the circle, the ef-figy was impaled on crossed spears to await its final destruc-tion.

MONEY PAID FOR COTTON

Columnist Says Wallace is Aiming High to Win G. O. P. Farm Vote

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., April 11.—(UP)—Allan Hoover, son of former President Hoover, read-ily confirmed to the United Press here today a statement by a Washington columnist that he, Allan, had received $5800 in AAA benefit payments from the New Deal.

"I hold a minority interest in the Greenfield ranch, just south of Bakersfield," young Hoover said. "I received a $5800 AAA payment under the cotton agree-ment."

"In the first place, I was com-plying with the law, and tickets for the sale of cotton could not be issued unless the ranch owners signed the agreement."

"Although the owners did re-ceive this AAA payment, they sus-tained a loss of $25,000 as a result of unconstitutional acts under the AAA affecting other crops."

Young Hoover also said he had received "two dollars, 50 cents and some mills" as his share of an- other AAA payment.

"This as my share of a payment to the Kern County Land com-pany," he explained. "This com-pany got a $29,000 payment."

"The company has 100,000 shares of stock. I own 10 shares. Be-cause of my ownership of these 10 shares, I get my share of this payment—two dollars, 50 cents and some mills."

The statement that Allan Ho-ver received a $4800 AAA payment was contained in today's column of Raymond Clapper, special Washington correspondent. The article in part said:

"Who started these disclosures of AAA benefit payments anyway? Now it leaks out that Allan Ho-ver, son of former President Ho-ver, is on the books as having re-ceived $4800 in AAA sugar bene-fit payments from the New Deal against which his father is pitting wit and wisdom."

"The payment was made on a 1934 sugar contract, and went to 114 Sansome street, San Francisco. It is not known here whether Mr. Hoover was only the nominal re-cipient for payments intended for tenants or other parties, or wheth-er they were due him personally."

"It has been frequently said that the real purpose of AAA was to buy the Republican farm vote but nobody dreamed that Secre-tary Wallace would aim so high."

Young Hoover's statement said the payment was under the cotton agreement rather than the sugar agreement.

Eight hours before Mrs. Tit-terton, wife of an executive of the National Broadcasting company, was killed after a terrific strug-gle through her apartment, a mys-terious intruder rang the bell of another apartment in the building.

It was 3 m., Thursday. It was the third time, and at the same time, that the intruder had put in an appearance. Mrs. Titterton died soon after 11 a. m. An autopsy today disclosed she had been criminally assaulted.

Police resorted to all possible scientific resources in their search for some tangible clue. In their research laboratory, chemicals were applied to Mrs. Titterton's torn clothing in an effort to bring out

RENO BARTENDER SLAIN BY ROBBER

RENO, Nev., April 11.—(UP)—Louie Madsen, 45, bartender at the Comstock club, was shot and killed today by an unidentified robber who escaped after looting the cash register of approximately $50.

Waitresses in a cafe next door said they heard a shot at 9:55 a. m. but thought nothing about it. Half an hour later the body was found humped behind the bar, a bullet hole from an automatic pistol through the chest.

The robber apparently shot Madsen while no customers were in the bar. He made his escape through the front door into the crowds along Center street. Mad-sen was a former city fireman.

ULTIMATUM ISSUED BY STATE OFFICIAL

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—(UP)—Timothy A. Reardon, chair-man of the state industrial accident commission, threatened today to stop all work on the construction of the San Francisco Bay bridge unless the contractors, the Colum-bia Steel company, provide "addi-tional, adequate precautions to safeguard the lives of the work-ers."

Reardon also revealed that Charles H. Purcell, chief engineer in charge of supervising construc-tion of the bridge, wrote a letter to the contractors, demanding greater care be taken not only for the pro-tection of the workers but also to prevent injury to other persons.

No Royal Courts Planned by King

LONDON, April 11.—(UP)—King Edward VIII will hold no royal courts this year in token of mourn-ing for his father King George. It was announced today, and debut-antes, including those Americans who might have been presented to him, were left desolate.

It was estimated that shops would lose about $2,000,000 by the deci-sion.

CAMERA CATCHES EASTER BUNNY IN ACTION

Grownups will center chief interest tomorrow in the annual Easter parade up and down Santa Ana main stems, but juvenile Santa Anans care not a whit about such things. Rather they are interested—like Baby Marie Dionne, of the Ontario Dionnes, shown below—in the coming of that jovial cottontail, the Easter Bunny. He was a very special guest in the Dionne nursery this week, and Marie, you will notice, is mightily interested in that bag he carries on his back. Bunny obliged with a big grin, left a plentiful supply of candy eggs for the quints and departed for Santa Ana, where he is due tonight.

POLICE FOLLOW LONE CLUE IN WOMAN'S DEATH

NEW YORK, April 11.—(UP)—Police followed a lone clue to-day believing it might lead to the stranger who assaulted Nancy Evans Titterton, an author, and left her dead in her bath tub. The clue suggested a mystery as strange as any Mrs. Titterton injected into the short stories that were bringing her into prominence when the assassin ended her career.

Eight hours before Mrs. Tit-terton, wife of an executive of the National Broadcasting company, was killed after a terrific strug-gle through her apartment, a mys-terious intruder rang the bell of another apartment in the building.

It was 3 m., Thursday. It was the third time, and at the same time, that the intruder had put in an appearance. Mrs. Titterton died soon after 11 a. m. An autopsy today disclosed she had been criminally assaulted.

SANTA ANA CHURCHES PLAN SPECIAL EASTER SERVICES

PREFACED by seven sunrise programs, Santa Ana Easter worship will be extended through an inspiring series of morning, afternoon and evening services.

Virtually every local church will feature special Easter music at the morning service; two Vesper hour programs will bring rare musical treats at the First Presbyterian and First M. E. churches; and sev-eral outstanding evening events are planned, including the second concert of the combined First Christian and First Presbyterian choirs, and Easter cantatas at the United Presbyterian and United Brethren churches.

The Christian and Presbyterian choirs, comprising 90 voices, will present their concert at the First Christian church, having already made one appearance on Good Fri-

Dionnes Will Parade In Easter Finery

CALLANDER, Ont., April 11.—(UP)—The Dionne quintuplets will participate in a real fashion parade on the verandas of the Dufalo hos-pital tomorrow, parading in all their Easter finery.

Each will wear a new bon-net, shoes and dress. They will wear their winter coats and leggings, and underneath them will wear dainty new dresses to mark Easter.

Dr. Allan Roy Dufalo, their physician, said the babies had enough Easter eggs, sent them from all over the con-tinent, "to stock a candy shop."

Treasure Hunt Is Barred from Mails

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(UP)—The grand national treasure hunt was barred from use of the mails today under a fraud order signed by acting postmaster gen-eral W. W. Howes.

The order was issued against promoters of the hunt on grounds it constituted a lottery through offering contest prizes to "mem-bers" who found the most apt-itudes for a series of cartoons.

THOUSANDS TO ATTEND EASTER SUNRISE RITES

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—(UP)—Thousands of Southern Californians will greet Easter at sunrise tomorrow in a score or more outdoor places of worship. Warm, fair weather was forecast.

The peal of trumpets heralding another observance of the Resur-rection will sound the end of holy week at historic Mt. Rubidoux, Sunrise Hill at Big Pines, Mt. Buena Vista at Santa Catalina Island, the Hollywood Bowl, Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum, Poppy Peak on Mt. Washington and many other outdoor settings.

Gov. Frank F. Merriam will speak at the coliseum. A civic chorus of 500 voices will sing.

In the Hollywood Bowl, more than 15,000 persons will hear Ales-sandro Giglio, opera star, and view the gigantic Easter cross formed by a chorus of children singers.

Dr. Witt Hutchesin will recite "God of the Open Air" at Mt. Rubidoux, scene of the first civic service in Southern California a quarter-century ago. More than 3000 worshippers are expected to attend services on Sunrise Hill, 6500 feet above sea level.

In addition to these outdoor services, special rites will be held in all Catholic and Protestant churches.

California Shows Building Increase

SAN FRANCISCO, April 11.—(UP)—Building permits for 51 California cities during March to-taled $13,345,171, a gain of 69.4 per cent over March, 1935, the state chamber of commerce an-nounced today.

Los Angeles led with $4,646,331, a gain of 74.9 per cent. Sacra-mento was second with $1,070,825, a gain of 790.7 per cent over March, 1935, and San Francisco was third with $888,370, a de-cline of 22.8 per cent. Oakland was fourth, Long Beach fifth and San Diego sixth.

SHIP STRIKES FISHING BOAT IN TAKE-OFF

Two Passengers, Steward Die as Aircraft Sinks in Trinidad Harbor

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, April 11.—(UP)—Jose Iturbi, noted Spanish pianist, and Clairborne Foster, well known former actress, narrowly escape death today when the giant Sikorsky Clipper, Pan-American Airways airplane, struck a fishing boat while taking off here and sank, drowning three persons.

Those drowned, trapped in the submerged cabin of the plane were: E. Roman Martinez, New York, passenger.

Eric Rattray Brough, London, England, passenger.

Amadeo Lopez, Miami, cabin steward.

The crash came when the 32-passenger plane, carrying 18 pas-sengers and a crew of seven, struck the fishing boat while taxiing across the harbor at 50 miles an hour.

Takes Off In Dark

Edward Benson, American sound engineer who was the last man to be rescued from the submerged plane, said it was dark when the plane started on its southbound flight at 5 a. m. Shortly after leav-ing the base, the ship struck the boat and keeled over. According to the Pan-American Airways ac-count, the Clipper caught a pon-ton on the bow of the fishing craft, tearing a hole in the forward compartment.

Pilot Wallace Culbertson swerved the plane to avoid the collision and thus averted a head-on crash.

Benson was thrown from his seat, striking his head sharply on the side of the cabin. He lost con-sciousness momentarily and when he came to water in the cabin was up to his neck.

Benson then saw other passen-gers struggling at the tail of the plane and several trying to climb through portholes. He assisted another passenger to escape through a porthole and then, as the cabin became submerged, dived out.

Outside, the water was filled with survivors of the crash. Motor-boats were rescuing them. Benson said he climbed to the top of the plane and was the last person re-scued.

WARNS SENATE TO SPEED DEFENSE BILL

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(UP)—Chairman Timpan B. Parks, D., Ark., of the house appropriations sub-committee which handled the war department appropriation bill, warned today that congress will be here until the "Fourth of July" unless the senate agrees to rein-state more than $8,000,000 for Pa-cific coast defenses slashed from the bill.

The senate, when it passed the measure, removed the provisions for strengthening west coast, Panama and Hawaiian defenses from the bill. It left only $1,750,000 for the work, but tacked on many new riv-ers and harbors projects.

"I don't know how we will work out the rivers and harbors pro-jects but I do know we will get those Pacific coast defense provi-sions back into the bill or there won't be any adjournment before the Fourth of July," Parks said.

FORMER MINER IS HELD IN BOMBING

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 11.—(UP)—A former miner in whose home was found a cigar box simi-lar to those used in manufacturing bombs that killed one man and in-jured four yesterday was held by authorities today.

No charge was placed against him and police refused to divulge his name, but they said they be-lieved they had "the right man." He was arrested late last night and questioned by postoffice inspectors all night.

Police said he was a former mem-ber of the United Anthracite Min-ers of Pennsylvania, disbanded last year after an unsuccessful strike in which many of its members lost their jobs.

Authorities had theorized, before the suspect was arrested, that the killer who mailed bombs to six per-sons, was a disgruntled and prob-ably manual miner. All but one of the men to whom he sent his in-fernal machines were connected in some way with a strike of the Unit-ed Anthracite Miners two years ago.

POLICE DUBIOUS OF 'KIDNAPING' FEARS IN CASE

wished her to come directly to me.

The missing persons bureau assigned one man to the case but hinted it feared it was being made a publicity man's tool.

A California court awarded custody of Freddie Bartholomew to his aunt, Miss Myllicent Bartholomew, last fall and gave his parents until April 22 to contest an order making the aunt his permanent guardian. Miss Bartholomew took him to Hollywood in 1934 and has pushed him to stardom, she told the court that she had trained him since the age of three.

HUSBAND ASKS SCOTLAND YARD TO LEND ASSISTANCE

LONDON, April 11.—(UP)—Cecil Bartholomew has visited Scotland Yard in connection with the "disappearance" of his wife, mother of Freddie Bartholomew, it was understood today.

Bartholomew expressed fear that she might have been kidnapped.

He said he received a wireless message from his wife which said: "Solentid voyage. Marvellous reception. Every one most kind." Bartholomew expressed doubt that his wife sent the message, explaining "it was not couched in her language."

Scotland Yard took the view that there was nothing it could do, but that it would aid New York authorities if they asked for information.

'DISAPPEARANCE' TUNED WITH MOVIE RELEASE

LOS ANGELES, April 11.—(UP)—

New York authorities requested local police today to aid in the search for Mrs. Lillian May Bartholomew, who "disappeared" in New York while en route here to claim custody of her 12-year-old son, Freddie Bartholomew, of motion picture fame.

Detectives immediately started checking reports that the mother had arrived, or would arrive, here by plane under an assumed name.

A check at a downtown hotel failed to disclose her presence.

The airlines also professed to know nothing of her movements.

So did Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, which holds Freddie's contract. It was all a complete "mystery," timed, inadvertently or not, with local release of Freddie's latest picture. Spokesmen for David Selznick, who filmed it, heatedly denied reports the whole affair was a publicity hoax.

$30,000 YACHT IS SHEARED IN CRASH

SAN PEDRO, April 11.—(UP)—The $30,000 yacht Arbutus, owned by Attorney Leroy M. Edwards of Los Angeles, was virtually a total loss today after being nearly sheared in two during a collision with the excursion boat S. S. Catalina last night.

Walter S. Leeds, Los Angeles attorney and guest aboard the Arbutus, was cut by flying glass from the impact. He and six others on the 70-foot yacht were transferred to the Catalina and brought to the mainland. Although Leeds was removed to a hospital, his injuries were considered superficial. The accident occurred seven miles off Santa Catalina Island.

Ethiopian Slaves May Get Freedom

But perhaps you need even more vitamins than you're getting. Your doctor will know about that. If you are lacking in energy and vitality, he may prescribe an extra quantity of some special vitamin or combination. Old-Timers Line Up for Screen Come-Back

You'll have to admit you're an old-timer if you remember any of these actors and actresses, all well-known participants in dramas of the silent screen. Today, they have been lined up for new—although not so handsome—contracts by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, who will use them for bit parts in forthcoming films. The fortunate comebacks are, left to right: Florence Lawrence, King Baggott, Flora Finch, Jack Gray, Helene Chadwick, Robert Wayne, Naomi Childers, Jules Cowles, and Mahlon Hamilton.

SECURITY TAX MAY BE HELD OFF FOR WHILE

tributed profits tax, keystone of President Roosevelt's program for balancing the ordinary budget.

Under the social security law more than $228,000,000 is due to flow into state and federal treasuries after next January 1, for unemployment insurance. The act imposes a tax, effective during the next calendar year, to rise $178,000,000 for contributory old age pensions.

The two taxes, under the act, graduate upward until by 1950 industry and workers would be contributing a 3 per cent payroll levy for security purposes, or approximately $2,700,000,000 annually.

Representatives of business, in opposing the $799,000,000 budget tax bill before the house ways and means committee, said the security taxes would impose a heavy burden on industry, and that the double imposition of the proposed profits levy would seriously affect the financial status of many.

The profits tax, as agreed on tentatively by ways and means committee Democrats, is designed to force corporations to pay increased dividends instead of piling up large partially untaxable reserves.

The social security act requires companies to set aside from this year's payroll for unemployment insurance programs one per cent of the total wages paid. A credit of 50 per cent of this tax is allowed where a state has an acceptable unemployment insurance system.

The tax is not due to the federal government until next January. In 1937 it would rise to two per cent and reach thereafter a straight three per cent level.

The contributory old age pension feature of the act imposes a two per cent payroll levy—half paid by employee—on wages paid in 1937. This levy—share and share alike—would graduate up to 6 per cent in a few years.

MIDWAY CITY

MIDWAY CITY, April 11.—A new residence is being started in the 300 block on Adams street by Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Kelley, proprietors of the new Midway City Motel.

Miss Amy Leith, proprietor of the Amy Beauty shop, has purchased a lot adjoining the Birdwell building on First street, and has moved a stucco building there from Westminster avenue, Westminster.

Miss Leith will add a new front to the building and also a 14 by 14 foot addition on the rear of the building. The beauty shop will occupy the front of the building while her father, E. E. Leith, will install his carpet loom in the new portion.

A group from the senior Christian Endeavor of the Midway City Community church presented the bill for the "Risen Christ" in connection with the sunrise service held under the auspices of the West Orange County Council of Religious Education. Those included in the cast were Miss Mary Arnett, Miss Frances Hill, Miss Lois Hart, Miss Doris Hart, Russell Pury. A trumpet solo was rendered by Norman Toussaint.

Miss Edna Crouch is spending a week with a party of friends at Balboa.

Miss Rene Lutter is convalescing at her home from a recent minor operation.

Harry Le Schmidt is at Corona spending a week with his uncle.

According to the Italian newspapers, the price of peace by Mussolini will be the control of the whole of Ethiopia. . . . People who used to think that Duce's boasts were taking in a lot of territory, were certainly right.

From the fast pace Haile Selassie has been setting in getting away from that Italian army, I imagine his man with the umbrella is having a tough time keeping up with him.

You really have to feel sorry for the Little King in his vain efforts to get the League of Nations to intervene. . . . Trying to attract their attention, while they're occupied with Hitler, is like trying to play pennies in a quarter slot-machine.

All this should be a lesson to those in this country who believe in depending on League and pacts for our main defense. . . . Winners of wars use those treaties for confetti at their Victory balls.

heavy crosses up mountain sides on feet stuck in shoes filled with sharp pebbles and with circulation cut off in their legs by wire bindings, their celebration will be over until next February.

Then the cats-o-nine-tails will be brought out again. They will, as this year, beat themselves in private at first, then gradually work into rituals in which the holiest is he who beats himself the hardest.

The paganistic doctrine is believed a throwback or "hang-over" to the "Flageolantes" of the middle ages. Almost 1000 years ago these strange converts spread a self-torture fad all over Europe, and it took centuries to put it down.

The "fever" even invaded royal families before the church, the law, and education stamped out the practice. Europe has no known remnants of the cult now.

Spanish-American settlers were believed to have brought the custom to New Mexico, and it spread among many groups in the southwest. It dwindled to New Mexico again, and is reported spreading now.

'HUNGER MARCHERS' PARADE IN CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(UP)—Five hundred "hunger marchers" carrying red banners paraded in the shadow of the White House today while a committee of five leaders tramped into the executive offices with a petition demanding a $6,000,000,000 work-relief program.

The five committeemen, headed by David Lasser, national president, were taken in to see President-elect Secretary Marvin McIntyre.

After spending 30 minutes with McIntyre, Lasser told newsmen he had threatened "a huge march with tens of thousands of men and women on Washington this summer unless the administration finds works for the jobless."

"McIntyre told us it was impossible for President Roosevelt to see us," Lasser continued. "We told him that our people would be very resentful as he could see representatives of organized business, but couldn't see us."

latent fingerprints by a new process.

A fountain pen, said to belong to Titterton, an executive of the National Broadcasting company, and found on Mrs. Titterton's bed, also was studied for fingerprints.

Only a block from the Titterton home is the apartment building in which Vera Street shot and killed Dr. Fritz B. Gebhardt, eminent German industrialist. Nearby live Katherine Cornell, actress, John D. Rockefeller, 3rd, and many other prominent residents of the East Side colony.

An interesting bit of information came from the Countess Alice Hoyas, who lives in the same building as the Tittertons, who said that a youth of about 22 knocked on her door about a week ago and mumbled that he was looking for someone. He seemed to be anxious to hide his face.

Twelve men, including Mrs. Titterton's radio executive husband, were questioned almost continuously from 4 p.m. until 4:15 a.m. and then freed.

Her husband, Lewis H. Titterton, head of the National Broadcasting company's continuity department, left her working on an already sold novel when he went to his office. Both he and she were successful writers, she specializing in fiction and he in reviews and essays.

Question Delivery Boy

Asst. Dist. Atty. Frank O'Rourke said a 16-year-old tailor's delivery boy who visited the Titterton apartment in exclusive Bessman place at about the hour Mrs. Titterton was killed, would be questioned. But neither he nor police expected to learn anything except what the boy reported to his employer—that he attempted to deliver some garments to the apartment at 11:30 a.m., received no answer to his knocking, and returned immediately to his shop.

O'Rourke said "Nothing—absolutely nothing" had been learned beyond what was obvious when Mrs. Titterton was found, nude except for stockings, in the bathtub of her apartment.

A pink pajama coat and a red blouse knotted tightly about her throat caused death, police physicians said.

A single finger print found on the bathroom wall gave no immediate clue to the killer, but was the most valued discovery in the apartment. It had not been made by Mrs. Titterton or her husband.

The homicide squad, using new methods, hoped to find and develop to visibility a finger print on Mrs. Titterton's clothing. Under favorable circumstances, they said, new chemical processes might produce visible prints in the satin of her torn brassiere, her shoes, or other articles of apparel.

LEAGUE UNABLE TO SETTLE DIFFERENCES

GENEVA, April 11.—(UP)—Two of Europe's gravest post-war problems, the reoccupation of Germany of the demilitarized Rhineland zone and the Italian-Ethiopian war, were at a temporary stalemate today.

Meetings of the league committee of 13 on the Ethiopian problem, and of British, French, Belgian and Italian delegates as representatives of Locarno treaty nations, did nothing to bring nearer a solution of either matter.

Great Britain and France remained completely divergent both on the Rhineland and Italian matters.

Salvatore de Madariaga of Spain will talk to Italian and Ethiopian delegates Tuesday on peace possibilities, and the committee of 13 will meet next Thursday to hear Madariaga's report. Britain threatened to demand new penalties against Italy if—as was expected—Italy refused to agree to peace on terms acceptable to the league.

CALLES HOPES FOR RETURN TO LAND OF BIRTH

Airlines plane. He will arrive in Los Angeles at 3 p. m. (PST) and then will go to the home of his daughter in San Diego.

"I will live in San Diego, owing to the hospitality which the United States has offered me and which I well know how to appreciate," he said.

"Some day, God speed the day, things may change and I may be able to return to Mexico, my home for 58 years and for whose interest I always worked."

Calles was accompanied here by his aide, Capt. Manuel Fuentes, and three formerly prominent Mexican leaders who were deported with the aging former dictator. They were Louis Leon and Luis Morones, members of the cabinet under Calles, and Rafael Medoch Ortega, one-time governor of Guanajuato.

Fears that his deportation might cause armed uprising in Mexico were dispelled by Calles with a shrug.

"I am an old man," he said. "I have been retired from politics a long time. My exile cannot bring an armed movement. If there are any revolutionary movements they will answer to more justified causes."

CALLES GRANTED PERMIT TO STAY IN U. S. FOR YEAR

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(UP)—

The immigration bureau announced today that Gen. Plutarco Elias Calles had been granted permission to remain in the United States for one year as a visitor.

The permission was granted by the Port of Brownsville officials. Luis N. Morones, Luis Leon and Melchor Ortega, who went into exile with Calles, also were granted a year's visit.

Calles' son, Alfredo, and Manuel Fuentes, were granted 30-day permits, which was all they asked.

CALLES' SON REFUSED ENTRY TO MEXICO TODAY

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., April 11.—

(UP)—Alfredo Calles, son of the former president of Mexico who was exiled from his country yesterday, was refused entry to Mexico today.

Mexican immigration officials said they were acting on orders of the department of interior.

"I did not understand that I was included in the exile order," young Calles said.

"I merely accompanied my father to the border, and planned to fly back to Mexico City. I cannot understand the department of interior order."

Young Calles said he was "attempting to get an explanation from Mexico City," but so far had been unsuccessful.

Comedy Scene In Ramona Pageant

Marda tells Juan Canito what she thinks of him; 13th annual presentation Ramona Pageant afternoons, Saturday and Sunday, April 18-19; 25-26, May 2-3.

Visitors to California from every state in the Union are interested members of the large audiences that every year witness the presentation of the Ramona Pageant, produced in a bowl provided by nature at the foot of Mt. San Jacinto.

The Pageant, given yearly by the inhabitants of the twin cities of Hemet and San Jacinto, is considered the outstanding outdoor performance, not only in California, but in any part of the world.

Dramatized from Helen Hunt Jackson's widely read story of early California days, "Ramona," it vividly depicts a crucial period of Indian life, during the invasion of the white man, and the gradual disintegration of Spanish occupation.

Ramona is replete with comedy, drama, romance and tragedy, interspersed with music, dancing and songs of the period set in a background of nature's handiwork. Two hundred fifty players are employed in the production of the spectacle, most of whom are selected from the inhabitants of Hemet and San Jacinto. Victor Jory and Jean Inness head the huge cast and will again be seen as Alessandro and Ramona.

The entire production will be under the personal supervision and direction of Morris Ankrum and the presentation occur on Saturday and Sunday, April 18-19, April 25-26 and May 2 and 3.

ALL SET FOR EASTER SUNDAY PARADE? HERE ARE FEW TIPS

NEW YORK, April 11.—(UP)—Preparing for the Easter parade is a very serious matter, the United Press learned today from Miss Grace Donohue, a well known beauty expert.

It isn't merely a matter of buying a lot of expensive clothes and then going out to church.

Miss Donohue, asked to give a few hints as to how women should "model" Easter outfits, had given 56 hints when she stopped for breath and was asked to list "just eight" of the most important ones. They follow:

1—Don't let your outfit may be brand new don't try new-make-up without testing it out. The wrong color lipstick can ruin your costume.

2—Don't take the dog parading with you merely to look smart and sophisticated. The dog won't know it's Easter and instead of complimenting your outfit he'll get under other people's feet.

3—Don't promenade with a friend whose coloring or outfit definitely clashes with yours. It will ruin both of you.

4—Don't spoil your outfit by wearing the wrong kind of flowers. The new pastel coats and suits are difficult to complement.

5—Don't clutch your escort's arm and hang on it for dear life. The effect is sloppy and ungraceful and your suit or coat will pull out of shape.

6—If you are walking alone don't thrust your hands in your pockets. Pockets in spring suits are for handkerchiefs and aren't meant to keep the hands warm.

7—Don't do unnatural things merely to attract attention. Remember everyone else has new clothes, too.

8—Remember the fundamentals of good posture; stomach in and shoulders straight.

"But, the women aren't going to have much fun if they obey all those don'ts, Miss Donohue!"

"They aren't supposed to have fun," Miss Donohue replied, eyebrows arched. "It's fun enough to have new clothes."

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(UP)—Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood, smiling and stepping along jauntily, left the White House today remarking that there may be something left from President Roosevelt in regard to Hagood's ouster from his command after he criticized the WPA.

"Nothing to report," Hagood told newspaper men. Then, in response to persistent questioning, he said:

"There may be something later in the day and it probably will come from the White House."

"Did you ask for this meeting?" he was asked.

"I cannot answer that," he replied.

"Will you see the president again?" he then was asked.

"I cannot tell you that," he remarked, "for I am not in the position nor at liberty to say anything."

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

In school a pupil absorbs from the teacher's trained mind and chastened spirit something he could not gain from a text book. He receives from his teacher the word of God, the assurance of God's love, the strength which you must have if you are to go bravely on.

Cherish what you learn from other men's experiences, but live your own life. Bring your aching heart to His healing word. Let Him give to you courage, assurance and strength, which you must have if you are to go bravely on.

WHITE BACKS PRISON FARM PROPOSAL HERE

E. A. White, today attacked opposition to locating a state prison farm in Orange county on the grounds that convicts make undesirable neighbors.

White said: "In Santa Ana is located the Orange county prison, better known as the county jail. According to information obtained direct from the jail there are, on an average, 150 prisoners confined there at all times. Of this number approximately 40 of them are federal prisoners, serving terms for felonies.

"Less than two blocks away from the county prison is located the Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scout headquarters, two organizations dedicated to the moral upbuilding of the youth of the community. Next door to the jail is one church and within two blocks is located four of the largest churches in the city, placing the jail in the center of the moral and religious center of the community.

"It would be as consistent for the chamber of commerce to start a movement to remove the Orange county jail from this city as it would be to oppose location of the prison farm, 10 miles from the city.

"Plans and specifications for the state prison farm have been prepared and approved in Washington, D. C. Already $6,000,000 has been allocated for the project and is awaiting to be used in constructing the finest institution of its kind in the west.

"The place will be beautifully landscaped and carefully managed. Civil employees, including executives, officials, doctors and nurses will total approximately 300 people with an annual income of approximately $50,000. These employees will send their children to schools here, be good citizens, buy merchandise here and either rent or build homes."

COLLINS COMES WEST IN PROBE OF COAST CARR

Word was received here today that Congressman Sam L. Collins will leave Washington, D. C. next week to assist a house subcommittee which is investigating the Townsend Old Age Pension movement in California.

Representative C. Jasper Bell, Democrat, Missouri, chairman of the house old age pension investigating group, said in Washington that Collins had been named as a co-member of the subcommittee working under Representative Joseph A. Gavaghan, Democrat, New York, because of his familiarity with the situation in Southern California and, particularly, his district.

"We thought that by sending Collins, we would be able to clean up the work quickly," Bell said.

Committee members said they understood some interesting information had been gathered in California on the Townsend movement in the state. Hearings, it was indicated, would not be resumed until a report on the subcommittee's findings has been made.

THREE U. C. CREWS HEAD NORTH MONDAY

BERKELEY, April 11.—(UP)—California's Golden Bears, hopeful of new Poughkeepsie and Olympic conquests, end the rigorous routine of their heavy training season today and launch their 1936 campaign a week later.

Cochman Carroll (Ky) Ebright will send his charges through a final time trial on Oakland estuary today, then three trim racing shells will be stowed safely aboard the baggage car in which they will be transported to Seattle Monday for the Bears' dual clash with an eight-oared University of Washington.

The crews renew their old feud a week from today on Lake Washington at Seattle.

Forty-five oarsmen of varsity, junior varsity and freshman crews will make the trip Monday night.

LEADER OF BOY SCOUTS IS HERE FROM ENGLAND

J. S. Wilson, personal representative of Sir Robert Baden-Powell of England, originator of the Boy Scout movement, arrived in Orange county shortly before noon and was escorted to Camp Irvine, Boy Scout camp near Irvine park, where he was scheduled to address Scout leaders from all over the county this afternoon.

Orange county Scout executive, Harrison E. White, was in charge of arrangements for the special visit of the noted English Scout leader, who was the honored guest at a luncheon event at Camp Irvine this noon. Camp Irvine is considered one of the finest Boy Scout camps in the United States.

Following the luncheon event, Mr. Wilson was scheduled to address a group of around 100 Boy Scout leaders from all parts of Orange county and Southern California.

Scout leaders in practically every county in Southern California attended the meeting this afternoon to hear Mr. Wilson discuss the Boy Scout program in England. The English Scout leader in the United States studying the Boy Scout program as it is operated here.

The party included Dr. D. Alton Patridge from national Scout headquarters, C. J. Carlson, regional Scout executive, Commodore Bosbyshell, regional Sea Scout executive and others.

SCREEN TESTS ARE GIVEN TO SEVEN WINNERS

An audience which packed the Broadway theater last night watched with interest a typical Hollywood moving picture company take tests of seven Orange county young women and children who competed in the final elimination contest of the big Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer-Register search for talent contest.

Results of the contest last night were not announced by studio officials today, but are expected to be made public when the sound moving picture made of the contestants are screened here. It is expected that these pictures will be screened at the Broadway theater tomorrow, according to Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The four young women who faced the crucial tests last night were Jane MacFie, Barbara Lambert, Bernice Brownson and Agnes Brady, all of Santa Ana. Child winners were Carol C. Hanson, Huntington Beach; Mary Louise Danner, Orange; and Helen J. Grubb, Santa Ana.

C. Edward Carrier, M-G-M test director and his corps of assistants were in charge of the voice and screen tests made at the Broadway theater last night. A typical Hollywood movie set was erected on stage. A public address system enabled everyone to hear the voice tests. Marcia LePine, makeup expert, was in charge of the makeup of the contestants. While in the lobby of the theater she answered many questions by Santa Ana women regarding the art of makeup.

The girl winner of these tests will be known as "Miss Santa Ana," and will be invited to Los Angeles early in May along with the children's contest winner, to participate with the other finalists in the Hollywood contest. The girl to select one girl for a three months contract with M-G-M, and one child for Hal Roach's Rascals.

Local Briefs

Wind velocity yesterday averaged 3.1 m.p.h., according to records at the Santa Ana Junior college meteorological station. Temperatures ranged from 49 at 6 a. m. to 73 at 12 noon. Relative humidity was 45 per cent at 3 p. m.

Notice of intention to wed was filed today at the courthouse by Overton K. Maxwell, 27, San Juan Capistrano newspaperman, and Miss Marion N. Becker, 23, of Placentia. Maxwell is the son of William A. Maxwell, publisher of the Coastline Dispatch, at San Juan Capistrano, and a nephew of W. Kee Maxwell, publisher of the Fullerton News-Tribune.

Permit for alteration of a house at 1130 North Lowell, and construction of a private garage, for $1500, was granted B. A. Schegel, 1514 North Broadway, work to begin at once. The city building inspector granted the permit.

William Hadden, former timekeeper on the WPA squirrel control project, has been appointed property manager to take the place vacated by L. A. "Mike" Hogue, who has been named postmaster at Brea. Hadden is a former Santa Ana business man. He took over his new duties today, which include doing all the work for the procurement department of the Works Progress Administration here.

Club No. 2 will meet Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Townsend Hall, 509 West Fourth street. The Thompson Melody Players under the direction of Russell Thompson will entertain with a 30 minute concert. C. L. Carlisle will be the speaker of the evening.

GOODRICH 'SOLDIERS' WAR ON UNSAFE TIRES

Barricaded against the common enemy—unsafe tires—and supported by a whole regiment of exceptionally fine road-warrior fighters, nine French helmeted members of the Goodrich Silvertown store, are seen below, lined up in fighting formation, at their headquarters, First and Broadway. They are aiming at a pile of worn tires, enemies of motoring. From left to right, are Bob Schwarm, Clyde Farlow, Scott Waddle, Palmer Stoddard, Orval Lyon (captain), Harry Allen, Charlie Read, Kenneth Prince and Dave Parkins.

NEW CHARGES FILED AGAINST TURF AGENCY

A new complaint charging seven Continental Turf club defendants with two counts of violating gambling laws was filed today by Assistant District Attorney James L. Allen, to replace the superior court information dismissed by Superior Judge James L. Allen late yesterday on the ground that it failed to state a public offense.

New proceedings will be instituted at once against Manager Frank Scoby, of the race track betting agency, and his six co-defendants who were arrested when Sheriff Logan Jackson's men raided the turf club in Santa Ana several months ago, and seized equipment found there.

The information was dismissed by Judge Allen yesterday because it failed to state that the establishment operated by the defendants and the bets it received there were placed outside of a licensed inclosure, such as Santa Anita race track. The race track betting permits have to be placed within such licensed inclosures; the information filed did not state that the bets were not so placed.

The court ruled upon the further ground that the defendants held and "pretended" to place the bets on the races at Santa Anita, if no offense was committed, Judge Allen pointed out.

The new complaint corrects these defects in the old charges, Davis said today.

Dismissal of the old charges yesterday was said to have benefited the prosecution, and paved the way for the prosecution to be continued. If the defense had waited until the jury was empaneled and the evidence ready to present, and then made its attack upon the sufficiency of the charges, there would have been no way to file a new complaint and start a new prosecution, because the defendants would have been "once in jeopardy," which is a legal bar to further prosecution, it was pointed out.

'BUDDY' BAER SIGNS TO BATTLE LENGLET

OAKLAND, April 11.—(UP)—"Buddy" Baer, former heavyweight champion Max Baer's younger brother, faces one of the toughest tests of his ring career Wednesday night when he meets Andre Lenglet of France in a six-round bout at Oakland auditorium.

Lenglet has fought twice in Oakland within the past few weeks and boxing fans are convinced "Buddy" will meet plenty of trouble when he tackles the purported heavyweight champion of France. Lenglet won both bouts.

Police News

Rudolph Senn, 45, 1226 South Shelton, Santa Ana, was arrested at Fourth and Birch streets about 7:45 o'clock last night by Special Officers Roger Dunning and charged with drunk driving after his car allegedly collided with two parked cars. Senn was jailed after a doctor's examination report declared he was intoxicated to a "marked degree."

Gilbert French, 1118 Orange avenue, who was arrested for being drunk and resisting an officer, was sentenced by City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday to 30 days in county jail on the drunk charge. The charge of resisting was dismissed.

L. V. Payne, F. E. Grigg and Richard Claus paid $1 each for illegal parking; Morris Cain paid $2 on two tickets for illegal parking. Shannon E. Eller, 819 South Main, Santa Ana, paid $3 for speeding.

A youthful Santa Ana Gardens boy, caught in the act of taking merchandise at a local downtown store, yesterday, was warned and sent home by city police after store officials declared they did not wish to prosecute.

Former Resident Dies In Louisiana

Word was received here today of the death, April 3, in New Orleans, La., of E. W. Hardy, former president of Santa Ana and Villa Park. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Agnes H. Hardy, also of New Orleans, La., and two daughters, Miss Sophie and Miss Emma Hardy, both of San Francisco.

While living in Santa Ana Mr. Hardy was employed as a bookkeeper at the court house, First National Bank, Dale's Hardware store and in many other business houses. He had resided in Louisiana for several years prior to his death.

NATIONAL LEAD COMPANY HOST TO 80 PAINTERS

The economy of quality in painting jobs was one of the lessons that many property owners learned from the depression, Mr. Pickett of the National Lead company, told about 80 painters, dealers and general contractors of Santa Ana and vicinity at a meeting held by the company last night in the Green Cat cafe.

The chairman of the meeting was Ray L. Stauffer, and the program was presented by Pickett and Ross of the National Lead company, manufacturers of Dutch Boy paint products.

"During the depression," Pickett said, "many property owners tried to save money by buying cheap paint and hiring inexperienced painters. The result was early paint failures and expensive burning off of the old cracked paint surfaces when repainting was necessary. This extra expense was many times the saving on the first cost of those 'cheap' painting jobs."

"Painters and paint dealers must use advertising and proper selling methods to drive home the lesson of the depression that it pays to hire a good painter and use quality paint products."

William O. Harris of the public relations department of the Federal Housing Administration, spoke briefly on various phases of the FHA, giving figures on the assistance that these acts have given in the rehabilitation of old structures and the building of new homes.

The program included a talk, "Ask Dad—He Knows," and presented newspaper and other advertising features to help painters and paint dealers tell the public the story of quality painting jobs.

Several painting demonstrations were given by Ross to show painters the latest trends in interior and exterior painting.

SAN CLEMENTE CITY OFFICIAL MARRIED

Councilman David G. Kinney of San Clemente and Nan Cowan of the same city were married by Judge James L. Allen this morning, with a small group of relatives and friends attending.

The couple will enjoy a motor honeymoon and later in the year plan to build a new home in the Spanish village. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony.

Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy Jr., of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy Jr., of San Clemente; Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Ross and daughters, Peggy and Betsy, of Santa Monica; Mr. and Mrs. John Hall, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Maude Morphy, of San Clemente.

CACTUS PLANTS PRESENTED TO MUSEUM HERE

Officials of the Bowers museum today were elated at the gift of two exceptionally fine specimens of cactus from Mrs. W. W. Halesworth, pioneer Santa Ana resident, of 1218 North Broadway.

The two huge cacti will be removed at once from the old Halesworth grounds at 1314 North Broadway, by Foreman Dale Griggs, of the city forestry department, which department has charge of the museum grounds.

One is a giant Mexican cactus, 18 feet in height, which was brought here from Mexico by the late W. W. Halesworth when it was about 18 inches tall.

The Huntington Library attempted to purchase this cactus at one time, but the offer was refused by Halesworth, who sold the library a lesser specimen for $100.

The other cactus presented to the local museum is a mission cactus, which has grown in one stalk to a height of ten feet.

Great care will be used in the removal of the two cacti to the museum grounds. They will be crated, and large quantities of earth will be boxed about the roots.

Announcement of Mrs. Halesworth's gift was made today by County Treasurer T. E. Stephenson, chairman of the Bowers museum board.

TROTT WILL MOVE TO NEW QUARTERS ABOUT MAY FIRST

Remodeling of the new quarters at the southwest corner of Fifth and Sycamore streets which will be occupied by H. R. Trott, jeweler, was under way today.

Trott, who has been in business here for the past five and a half years, building up the present large business from a one-counter establishment to an institution which now employs four watchmakers, is staging a removal sale at his present quarters, 506-08 North Broadway.

The removal sale started yesterday and will continue until Trott moves his business. He expects to move into the new store location around May 1. He specializes on clocks and watches, but handles many other types of jewelry and novelties.

The entire stock in the store, including perfect blue white diamonds, watches, clocks, silverware, cut glass, novelties and other articles, has been placed on sale.

MRS. GLADYS REES CALLED BY DEATH

Funeral services will be held Monday at 10 a. m. for Mrs. Gladys M. Rees, 42, of Tustin, who died yesterday at a local hospital after a brief illness. Services will be held at the Harrell and Brown chapel, with the Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

Mrs. Rees, who has lived in Tustin for 28 years is survived by her husband, John L. Rees; four sons, Lester, Clark, Donald and Ronald Rees, all of Santa Ana; her mother, Mrs. Laura Hawkins, Santa Ana and three brothers, William and Dick Hawkins, Santa Ana and Edward Hawkins of Tustin.

NINE GOODRICH SALESMEN WAR ON BAD TIRES

Nine members of the sales and service force of the Goodrich Silvertown store, First and Broadway, today began a battle against unsafe tires, one of the main causes of highway accidents.

"It is not necessary nowadays for motorists to take chances on unsafe tires when the safest tires ever built can be purchased on easy terms," Orval Lyon, manager of the local Goodrich headquarters said. "If you doubt that, come down and inquire about our Goodrich budget-pay plan."

The local Goodrich Silvertown dealer invites the public to visit the First and Broadway headquarters where the budget-pay plan will be explained. A free inspection of tires will be made, including removal of puncturing objects, which might cause trouble, check for air pressure and check for dangerous weak spots in tires.

Members of the Goodrich sales and service staff here are Orval Lyon, Bob Schwarm, Clyde Farlow, Scott Waddle, Palmer Stoddard, Harry Allen, Charlie Read, Kenneth Prince and Dave Parkins.

"There is no safer tire built than the new Goodrich Safety Silvertown," Lyon declared, "and it is the only tire in the world that gives you Golden Ply blow-out protection."

TROY COLBECK SEEKS RECORD IN PARACHUTE

Changes of arrangements for Troy Colbeck's assault on the world's consecutive parachute jump record, to be staged tomorrow at the Eddie Martin airport, places Frank Averill, of Long Beach, at the controls of the ship from which Colbeck will make his leaps. Averill is a transport pilot and has been licensed since he was 16 years old.

Averill's government licensed parachute rigger will assist Colbeck in repacking his parachute after each jump. Averill holds government license No. 4, and took his examination on the first day the federal government examined parachute riggers. He has been in the business for 15 years, being a former parachute packer and jumper in the navy.

One of the features of the day will be an exhibition of a 60-foot parachute, used in dropping planes from airships and dirigibles.

Colbeck will make his first jump at 5 a. m. and will continue until it becomes too dark to sight the field. The jumps will be recorded for the National Aeronautic association by Joe Nikrent, and the attempt to break the record will be sponsored by the drum corps of the Santa Ana post of the American Legion.

The present record is 18 jumps.

FOUR INJURED IN ACCIDENT ARE IMPROVED

Word received by The Register today states that the four Santa Ana high school girls who were severely injured in an automobile accident at Corona Del Mar Tuesday evening, when five others also received injuries, are recovering nicely at their homes.

Ellen Neal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Neal, 730 Cypress, received cuts and bruises and severe pavement burns, according to the report. Norma Battle, daughter of Captain and Mrs. G. Battle, 2041 North Main, has been removed to her home from Santa Ana Valley hospital, and is resting easier. She received a painful back injury. Doris Marillo, 1219 Pointsettia, and Genevieve Campbell, 918 Lacy, are recovering from head and body injuries. Officers who investigated, reported the girls narrowly escaped death as two cars collided.

The girls were in a 1935 Ford sedan, driven by Norma Battle, when it was struck by a 1935 Ford sedan, driven

JURY TRIAL IS DEMANDED BY COSTA MESA

City Judge J. G. Mitchell today was awaiting the first jury trial to be held in the new city hall. Following jury trial of the Costa Mesa case, Judge Mitchell will hear the case of the Costa Mesa case, charged with reckless driving. McCadden demanded a jury and, according to law, is entitled to one. The case will go to trial at 10 a. m. April 28.

S. Saffier, local junk dealer arrested on complaint of Earl Lentz of the city clerk's license department, that he failed to have a license for his business operations, also pleaded not guilty, but waived jury trial. Saffier said he was not doing business at the time he had no license and therefore is not guilty of the offense charged. The trial by court will be held May 1, 2 p. m.

ORANGE COUNTY TO GREET DAWN EASTER SUNDAY

Orange county will greet the dawn tomorrow in Sunrise Easter services to be held in practically all communities. Vocalists and instrumentalists will express the world's everlasting joy at the Resurrection.

Services in Fullerton will open at 5:30 a. m. with the Ministerial Union sponsoring the annual unified service in Hillcrest park. The Rev. Graham C. Hunter, of the Presbyterian church, will be the speaker. At St. Mary's Catholic church the mass of "St. John the Baptist" will be sung at 5:30 a. m. with Miss Marcelina Arrous directing the choir.

At Anaheim services will be held at 5:30 a. m. in the open air theater in the city park. Opening of the service will be heralded by American Legion buglers. Special music, including songs by the Girl Reserves choir, directed by Mrs. Winifred Sloop, will be presented and the sermon will be by the Rev. R. C. Schollenberger, pastor of the Anaheim church of Christ.

Sunrise services at Newport Beach will be held at 5:45 a. m. sponsored by Christ Church by the Sea and the Costa Mesa Community church. Special music will be presented, featuring the Orange County Federal band, under direction of Eddie Klein, and several vocal choruses and solos. The Easter message will be by the Rev. Kemp Winkler, pastor of the Newport Beach church.

A number of sunrise services are planned for Orange and its vicinity. Under the auspices of the Orange Ministerial Union sunrise services are planned at 5:10 a. m. at Olive Heights. The young men's division of the Y. M. C. A. will be in charge of arrangements and the sermon will be delivered by the pastor of the Orange First Christian church, the Rev. William R. Holder.

At the St. John's Lutheran church of Orange, at 5:30 a. m. a dawn service is planned with a sermon by the assistant pastor, the Rev. Kenneth L. Ahi, and the topic, "The Angel's Easter Message." At the Orange Immanuel Lutheran church will be held at 5:30 a. m. service with a professional by the choir and a sermon by the pastor of the church, the Rev. A. G. Webbeking. The topic will be "The Significance of the Resurrection of Christ." Trinity Episcopal church of Orange will hold a choral communion at 7 a. m.

BUENA PARK, April 11—Congregational church members and friends are to meet at dawn tomorrow for an Easter sunrise service in the hills surrounding the C. L. McComber home. Such a service has held several years ago and congregational demand created the service of tomorrow.

Special music has been planned by the choir members and the church pastor, the Rev. F. Stanley Powles will speak.

Easter will be recognized in the church school by a program for the children under the direction of Mrs. Justine Sporn.

Special services have also been planned at the Buena Park Bible church, continuing the revival meetings being conducted there. Young people of the church will take an active part in the service.

Easter sunrise services will be held by Brea and Placentia churches on Tuffrey hill, Placentia, at 5:30 o'clock. The services are being sponsored by the Placentia Chamber of Commerce. The Rev. D. J. Bringham, the Rev. Leonardo Ballesteros, the Rev. Basil Buehler and the Rev. Don Milligan will take part in the services.

Yorba Linda will hold Easter sunrise services on the hill near the center of town, with the members of the Friends and Methodist church joining in the services. The Rev. Harley Moore of the East Whittier Friends church will deliver the principal address, with the Rev. J. Hunter Smith of the Methodist church and the Rev. Sheldon Newkirk of the Friends church assisting.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

— News Behind the News —

BY PAUL MALLON

HOLLOW CHEER

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The Wisconsin rabs of the Borah cheering section came from the larynx and not the esophagus.

The real reason Mr. Borah won Wisconsin was because he was the beneficiary of a peculiar political situation which does not prevail elsewhere.

The dominant La Follette group of ex-Republicans had no presidential candidate. There was no place for them to go except into the Republican primary for Borah or into the Democratic primary for President Roosevelt. They did both.

Stranger yet, a large group of the anti-La Follette Republicans were for Borah, not entirely unkind of the embarrassment it would cause the La Follettes if they had to choose between Borah and Roosevelt in November.

Thus it was that Borah drew from the progressive and conservative groups, as well as the orthodox ones in between. That feat has rarely been accomplished.

The real answer to the Borah candidacy will be written in Illinois Tuesday and in Ohio a month later.

YAWN

The Ritten impeachment case has been a great bore to the senate. During the last few days the leaders have had difficulty in keeping a quorum present. Senators, who are judges and jurors combined, have been complaining to Floor Leader Robinson that the case has blocked their net net.

Most exasperated has been Senator Overton, whose flood control bill was the unfinished business when the senate dropped its legislative mantle and became a court for the duration of the trial.

The only other senatorial comment which you hear in the jury room is an occasional remark dropped by a liberal to the effect that it is a good thing to try a federal judge every once in a while. They seem to think it keeps the judiciary alert.

BREAK?

What is behind these latest yarns about a Hoover-Landon split is evidence picked up by Landon workers indicating that some of Mr. Hoover's good friends have begun quietly building up Senator Dickinson.

There is, for instance, an outstanding midwestern banker who entertained Mr. Hoover on a visit several months ago. This banker is a leader of a small group of business men. All displayed interest in the Landon candidacy until recently. Then they started talking up Dickinson. At the same time a Washington associate of Mr. Hoover has been expressing bitterness to pals about the way Landon went into California. He usually reflects the Hoover mind. But, when Mr. Hoover was in New York recently, he told a political comrade that he was not against Governor Landon, that he thought, the way things are going now, the Kansan would be nominated on the first ballot.

An open break is not likely.

PROTECTION—

Congressional investigators of the Townsend movement have quietly agreed on a "cat and mouse" game that's expected to keep the $200-a-month threat from their political doors through the next election.

Instead of winding up its inquiry during the present session, the House committee will give a demonstration of perpetual, political motion. It will sit through the summer and into the fall if Capitol Hill mailbags have not disclosed by that time that the pension proposition has been smoothed as a reelection menace. Thus it will keep key Townsends so busy and harassed that they won't be able to mobilize their voting strength against Congressional candidates. Whenever a pension-giver makes a speech or organizes a drive against a House member, he'll get a subpoena summoning him to Washington.

If you dig deep enough, you can detect the extraordinary finesse employed to select a Townsend committee which could neglect home affairs in a reelection year. Six of the eight investigators hail from districts which they couldn't lose if they took a trip to Mars. They have a $50,000 fund to pay railroad and hotel expenses and they can get more if they need it. They probably will.

CLASH—

House and Senate conferees are locked in a bitter back-stage battle over appropriations, with House members crying for economy and senators yelling for more generous expenditures. Mr. Roosevelt has privately warned both bodies against upsetting the budget, but his leaders say he will have to intervene more boldly and publicly to win out.

The House cut budget estimates in many appropriation bills. The senate tossed out budgetary recommendations, especially where they cracked down on agricultural and interior department expansion.

Excluding the bonus appropriation, the senate has increased house financial commitments by more than $500,000,000.

Politics lies behind the maneuver over money. The voters are obviously becoming excited over excessive spending, and economy gestures will win votes next November.

Every member of the House Appropriations committee is up for re-election and so they side with the president. But only four of the twenty-three members of the Senate Appropriations committee must tempt political fate next fall, and those four run in states which are almost certain to reelect them. So they feel that they can ignore current excitement over Uncle Sam's dwindling bank roll.

WASTEFUL—

Congressional savings have not been all to the merrily, however. In some instances the House members' economic complex threatens to cripple essential services of the government.

For instance, they have eliminated $125,000 which Secretary Morgenthau asked for bringing the Internal Revenue Bureau's examination of income tax payments up to date. The treasury chief has narrowed the gap between payment and final check-up to eighteen months (it used to be three years) but he is anxious to cut the period to one fiscal year. That will satisfy taxpayers and stabilize treasury finances. He can't do it unless he gets the money the house cut out.

The lower chamber also refused the plea of Isidor Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, for more funds for field work. It so happens that Mr. Lubin is the government's most expert collector of facts and figures bearing on unemployment, technological advances and economic changes. Economic topnotchers admit that savings in these fields will prove to be a waste of money in the long run.

MEMBERS OF CLUB HOLD EASTER PARTY

MIDWAY CITY, April 11.—Members of the Midway City Woman's club enjoyed an Easter party at their session this week.

A letter welcoming the club as a member of the state federation was read.

The annual club card party, at which different hostesses will entertain in their homes, was announced for May 23.

The current events feature of the day was given by the Rev. Clifford Jones, of the local community church, who spoke on the religious conditions in Russia, Germany, Italy and the United States.

The pageant, "The Thorn Crowned King," was presented by a group including Russell Furr, Mrs. Zelma Severson, Jeanne Frazier, with Mrs. Anna Campbell as accompanist.

Miss Virginia Turpin gave as a musical reading, "In a Garden." The character parts of Faith, Hope and Charity were taken by Mrs. Fred Foley, Miss Lois Hart and Miss Emmaetta Hart.

Young People Of Silver Acres To Present Pageant

SILVER ACRES, April 11.—Young people of the Silver Acres Community church will present a pageant, "The Tragedy of Procrustes," at services Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, was announced today by the Rev. Carl Jungkelt, pastor. Mrs. C. Briggs will be soloist and Mrs. Jerry Dowling, organist.

The pastor will speak at morning services at 11 a. m. on "Risen With Christ." An Easter program will be given by children of the Sunday school. Vocal duets will be sung by Mrs. Fred Melnick and Thelma Cain and Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hurd.

Sunday school will open at 9:45 a. m. Clark Gillham is superintendent. An Easter program will be held at the Christian Endeavor services. Prayer services will be held Wednesday at 7:30 o'clock. The Pioneer Boys' club will meet Thursday.

Easter Program Held by Society

Easter Program Held by Society

BUENA PARK, April 11.—An Easter program was held by members of the Ladies' Aid and Missionary society at the combined session of the group Thursday afternoon at the Congregational church.

Program numbers included a talk by the Rev. E. Stanley Powell on "Easter Lilies," vocal solos by Mrs. J. W. Sanbury, and violin numbers by Mrs. F. Schuerman.

Mrs. Fred Law, Mrs. J. F. Wagg, Mrs. C. C. Chapman, Mrs. C. E. Reid and Mrs. La Rue C. Watson will attend the Southern California Conference of Congregational Women April 20-22 at Ontario as representatives of the group.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. M. J. Eberle, Mrs. A. L. Gallagher, Mrs. Fred Law and Mrs. H. H. Haggerty.

Conduct Funeral Of Mrs. Marshall

COSTA MESA, April 11.—Funeral services were held from the Dixon Funeral chapel Friday afternoon for Mrs. Molly F. Marshall, 67, of 2124 Harbor boulevard. Mrs. Marshall passed away Wednesday.

A native of North Carolina, she and Mr. Marshall had lived in California for the past 30 years. They were members of the Community Methodist church.

She leaves her husband, William H. Marshall, and a son, Hugh C. Marshall, of Balboa Island.

The Rev. W. F. Lowe officiated at the funeral. Interment was made in Rosedale cemetery at Los Angeles.

OMIT BABY CLINIC

ORANGE, April 11.—The regular baby clinic will not be held Tuesday, according to an announcement made this morning by Miss Vena Jones, city nurse. The city clinic will be held in the room at the city hall ordinarily used by the clinic.

DEMOLAY BOYS PLANNING FOR ALUMNI DANCE

Final plans for one of the biggest dance events of the year were disclosed today by Jack Wright, chairman of the dance committee for the Orange County Chapter of International DeMolay Alumni. The Santa Ana Chapter has worked for a long time to perfect plans for this dance event.

It is the first big event to be undertaken by this chapter and the public is invited to lend its support to this social event. Bids may be obtained from any of the following: Harry Pink, assistant chief of police and DeMolay Alumni adviser, Dick Bradley, Bill Sylvester, John Schrier, Roy Wheeler, Corwin Frazee, Dick Coking, Jack Wright, Gus Mathews, or any of the members of the chapter.

Information as to where tickets to this event may be purchased may be secured at the Masonic Temple, Fifth and Sycamore.

The date of the dance has been set for Saturday, May 2.

This dance is to be held at the Long Beach Recreational Clubhouse and dancing will start at 9 o'clock.

The dance is to be Summer Formal. The Wagner-Sanders orchestra which is well known in Orange county for its swanky swing music will emulate the music. This one of the best eleven-piece bands in Orange county and is made up of local musicians—Paul and Remember the place, Long Beach Recreational Clubhouse, and the date May 2.

COUNTY FREEMEN TO DANCE ON APRIL 28

With Ray Gilbert and his orchestra furnishing the rhythm, the Orange County Firemen's association will present its annual "public invited" program this year, on April 28, at American Legion hall. The program will consist of dancing exclusively, according to W. M. "Buck" Fipps, president of the organization.

Tickets, he said, may be obtained from any fireman or any fire station in the county. They will be 50 cents per couple and money derived from the dance, will be used in defraying expenses of the association. Last year's annual program by the firemen consisted of a popular received amateur show, held at Tustin.

STUDIO PREVIEW AT BROADWAY TONIGHT

A special studio preview will be screened at the Broadway theater tonight, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

The preview is scheduled to go on the screen of the Broadway theater promptly at 8:30 o'clock this evening. The preview will be shown in addition to the regular double feature program.

Dinner Meeting Of Brea Chamber Set for April 21

BREA, April 11.—A dinner for the members of the Brea Chamber of Commerce is announced for the evening of April 21 in the American Legion hall, with women of the legion auxiliary serving the dinner.

The guest speaker is to be Charles A. Horvath of the All-World Builders Southern California. Mayor L. A. Hogue has been asked to secure musical numbers for the evening.

A movement under way for a luncheon meeting each week, it is announced by the president, A. F. Laing.

Smallman Choir In Los Angeles

Announcement of a candlelight service to be presented at 11:30 tonight by the choir of the First Congregational church of Los Angeles, inadvertently stated that the choir was that of the Santa Ana church and that the service would be held in the local church, which was an error.

The concert will be presented in the Los Angeles church under the direction of John Smallman.

Party Held For Y.W.C.A. Group

LA HABRA, April 11.—Audrey Hollingsworth entertained the financial committee of the Y. W. C. A. Thursday afternoon at her beach home at Balboa. A potluck luncheon was served at noon and following the meeting, swimming and boating were enjoyed by the guests.

Those attending were Nellie Scottfield, Fern Jones, Betty Lou Clayton, La Habra, Elizabeth Hunkeler, Anita Lee Dakovich, and Ruth Wheaton, of Anaheim; Marjorie McCall and Margaret Capps, of San Pedro; Lola Payne, of Laguna Beach; Betty Schofield, of Buena Park; Virginia Allen, Lucille Neiman, Helen Whitaker, Mrs. Logan Wheatly, of Fullerton; Winifred McCool, of Placentia; and Betty Steelman and Bonnie Miller, of Atwood.

News From Orange And Nearby Towns

MISS WISSEN BECOMES BRIDE OF H. STROBEL

ORANGE, April 11.—At a quiet home ceremony this morning, Miss Eise Wisen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josef Wisen, 125 North Pixley street, and Hans Strobel, of Santa Barbara, were married, with services read by the Rev. A. G. Webbeking, pastor of the Immanuel Lutheran church.

The bride was very lovely in a white satin floor length gown with fingertip veil and a shower bouquet of white roses. Her only attendant was Miss Mary Louise Jorm in an attractive floor length frock of aqua blue crepe with which she carried a bouquet in pastel tints. Carl Lehman, of Santa Barbara, served the bridegroom as best man.

The ceremony took place in a deeply recessed window where a temporary altar of spring flowers and greenery was erected. Following the ceremony a reception for the Orange County Crippled Children's association was held at the home. The bride attended the Immanuel Lutheran school and while Mr. Strobel received his education in Germany, coming from that country five years ago. He is the owner of a large ranch near Santa Barbara, where the couple will establish their home.

LA HABRA, April 11.—The next meeting of the Imperial Highway association will be held in La Habra, April 25. This meeting will open with a dinner, which is open to the public, at the Memorial hall.

Work is now in progress on Imperial highway from La Mirada avenue to the Los Angeles county line. This link in the highway connects with the road leading into Brea. Local authorities have discussed with Supervisor Leroy Lyon the extension of one of the north and south main arteries of La Habra through southward to connect with this road, and have secured assurance that this will be done.

PRO TENNIS FALTERS

William Tatem Tilden's long jaw is resting on his chest these days. The player-manager of the professional tennis troupe is wearing a puzzled expression, wearing out scores of pencils figuring up operating costs, and mumbling to himself about the idiosyncrasies of the sport fan.

For all is not well with the nomadic netters. After a season 1935 that was considered successful the current trek across country has been developing into a flop. That is why the 42-year-old Tilden is wearing that worried look.

The present season started at Madison Square Garden with new names that Tilden felt sure would exert a pull at the gate. The addition of Mrs. Ethel Arnold and Jane Sharp to the company gave the troupe a feminine touch that Big Bill and his promoting partner, Bill O'Brien, felt sure would add to the box office appeal.

But after the split of the troupe into eastern and western divisions, following the Garden debut, Tilden and O'Brien found themselves sadly disillusioned.

Tilden, Bruce Barnes, Mrs. Arnold, and Miss Sharp made up the eastern contingent, while Ellsworth Vines headed the western squad, featuring George Lott, Les Stofen, and Berkeley Bell, another new name.

The showing of the eastern division to date has been pathetic. In Baltimore the Tilden group played to a $700 gate. Following in Buffalo, it pulled a paltry $800 into the coffers. In Cleveland, only $700 was paid to see the stars go through their act. Further west it got worse.

FANS MISS VINES

If figures didn't refute the theory, Tilden possibly could console himself by reasoning that the extreme cold spell has held down the gates in all cities he has visited. But when comparing the Buffalo take with that of 1935, there is little consolation for Willie. The pro netters drew $3400 in Buffalo last season on one of the bitterest nights of the winter.

The old maestro of the net, at an age when most men are content to let stud poker become their most strenuous sport, probably is trying to figure out the why and wherefores of the situation. Let him wonder over the following factors: Vines still is one of the greatest figures in tennis, especially in the pro game. Being pro singles champion and possessor of the hardest drive in the sport, he carries as much appeal, if not more, than Tilden at the box office. Lott and Stofen, who gave up amateur play as doubles players, probably are carrying almost as much weight at the gate as Tilden.

Hence it follows that the western division of the troupe is topheavy with popular talent, despite the feminine makeup of the eastern division and the great Tilden's own presence. William Tatem's name alone doesn't assure success of the Atlantic group. The two women, although fine tennis players, don't attract enough to the makeup of the squad to recompense for the loss of Vines, Lott and Stofen.

NEED NEW NAMES

Apparently it was a mistake to split the troupe, and success undoubtedly calls for mobilization of the outfit under one banner. Another reason for the poor showing of the pro is the lack of new big names. No top-ranking stars were added to the roster this year who could compare with those already on the payroll. Efforts were made to sign Fred Perry and Helen Wills Moody, but to no avail.

About the only effect the gestures had was to give the pros some unfavorable publicity, giving people the idea that the money came wasn't strong enough to lure those two greats away from the amateur fold.

The handwriting seems to be on the wall for pro tennis and, if Tilden and O'Brien see it, they'll erase that writing at this critical stage of the game, make their efforts so attractive to outstanding amateurs that they can't resist, and thus insure the future of their business. Otherwise, the stockholders are going to take a awful beating.

U. S. NETTERS BEAT MEXICO IN SINGLES

HOUSTON, Tex., April 11.—(UP)—

The United States doubles team of Wilmer Allison of Austin and John Van Ryn of Philadelphia were favored today to defeat the Mexican team in the Davis Cup zone tennis competition.

Mexico's team, comprised of Marco Antonio Mestre and Flavio Martinez, hoped for a victory to offset a United States sweep in the singles matches yesterday.

In the opening singles play, Don Budge of Oakland, defeated Esteban Reyes, top-ranking Mexican, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1, while Bryan (Bitty) Grant Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., finished strong after a wobbly start to win over Daniel Hernandez, 5-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

Grant will play Reyes and Budge will meet Hernandez in the closing matches tomorrow.

JONES DOGS MAKE 'GRAND SLAM'

OWNERS WON'T SPEAK: ELDERLY ROOKIES START

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, April 11.—The baseball trumps the big show will still perform in the uniforms of the Brooklyn Dodgers. They've cleaned house almost from top to bottom, but some strange influence continues to gravitate odd, comical and bizarre ball players to Ebbets field.

Looking over the 1936 Brooklyn Daffiness Boys, we find: A rookie first baseman with a $50,000 voice. A collegian at shortstop without any previous professional experience. Two 35-year-old recruit outfielders installed as regulars. A utility player with a mustache.

The National league's hardest-hitting and weakest hitting catchers. A pitcher who wants to start every fourth game.

Not a single regular from last year's club playing last year's position, outside of the pitching staff. Two owners who won't speak to each other unless it's absolutely necessary.

Despite this strange collection of baseball bric-a-brac, the Dodgers may not be the laughing stock of the league. They've made an impressive record in spring exhibition games, second only to the Cincinnati Reds. They have won 12 games and lost 8. Their victories include 8 out of 12 from major league clubs.

Manager Stengel, who once took off his cap to an umpire and a bird flew out of it, says the Dodgers are a "do or don't club." "If this gang starts clicking there's no telling where we might finish," says Stengel.

Already the Brooklyn fans have taken the Dodgers of 1936 to their hearts. During yesterday's exhibition game which they won from the Yankees, 2-1, Dodger fans kept up a running fire of chatter at the new players.

"Look at that big truck horse Eckhardt. He can't field a lick, but he sure can run those bases." "Bordagaray is going to get himself tangled up in that mustache some day and get killed by a fly ball."

"Come on, Buddy Hassett, let's hear you sing 'Irish Eyes Are Smiling.' If you can only play first like you can sing, you'll be okay."

Before the game, Manager Stengel had to chase the rookies off the bench to find a place to sit down.

Needling only two or more points to clinch the championship for the second year in succession, Santa Ana Country club's No. 2 golf team takes on the second-place San Clemente squad here tomorrow in the concluding series of the Orange County league.

Boostered by three of the ablest juveniles in Southern California—Don Kennedy, Jack Robinson and Elmer Curry—the Santa Anas are overwhelming favorites to clinch the "key" match.

Hill Eliminated From Cup Match

Santa Ana high school was without

COSTLY RED SOX PUT JOE CRONIN ON SPOT

Stars fell on Fenway Park, and they put Manager Joe Cronin right on a spot. Baseball Row hears that Cronin has been told to win the American league championship this year—or else. In the story below, Jimmy Donahue, Register correspondent, tells how and why this task isn't so easy even if Owner Tom Yawkey has spent three million dollars for talent.

By JIMMY DONAHUE

(NEA Service Sports Writer)

BOSTON, April 11.—Joe Cronin is on the spot more than any other man in baseball.

With the greatest collection of high-priced baseball timber Tom Yawkey's millions could buy, the chisel-chinned fighter is faced with producing a pennant winner at the Hub this season, or else.

"Look at that big truck horse Eckhardt. He can't field a lick, but he sure can run those bases." "Bordagaray is going to get himself tangled up in that mustache some day and get killed by a fly ball."

"Come on, Buddy Hassett, let's hear you sing 'Irish Eyes Are Smiling.' If you can only play first like you can sing, you'll be okay."

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

AT THE DOG TRACK

Side-glances at Orange County's softball rules in the National and various other nocturnal leagues, is first to suggest that one of 'em be changed.

No sooner had the Oliveman read in "West Winds" the opinion of other observers than he 'phoned in to say something ought to be done about the pitching distance.

"The unprecedented number of strikeouts in our spring games is a tipoff," Gelker avers. "We've penalized the batters but not the hurler. My idea right along was to move the pitcher back four or five instead of 21-2 feet. Make the slinger toss 'em in from 40 feet and I think the batting averages would go up and strikeouts records collapse. What we want is more hitting and fielding, not more strikeouts."

Making all their runs in the first inning, Covina nosed out Westminster, 3 to 2, at Covina.

DiHarc and Williams opened the conflict with singles and Gillhausen tripled 'em home, scoring himself on an out. Gil Yorba hurled fine ball for Westminster after that and "Fuzzy" Errington was invincible when he took a four-inning workout.

Joe Morse's homer with one lead accounted for Westminster's, the score: Westminster, 4; Covina, 1.

Lewis Wetherell, Santa Ana, playing fourth singles for U. S. C., defeated White of Covina, 6-2, 6-3, and with Knemeyer turned back Masse and Coulthard of California, 6-1, 7-5, in doubles.

STARS' HURLERS PITCH SHUTOUT AT ARLINGTON

Behind the four-hit pitching of Lyle Morse and George Stevens, Santa Ana coasted to an easy 7-0 victory over Arlington's American leaguers at Arlington last night.

The Star gunners struck out 11 between them and the only Arlington baserunner who got past second base was a ninth inning batsman who made it with two away. Morse was particularly effective. He went six of the nine rounds and allowed only three singles, one of 'em scratchy.

Poor support handicapped Arlington's hurlers, the inlanders booting six chances behind Johnny Krick and Wilson Seacord.

Santa Ana got a run in the first on Smith's single, an error by Ruskauk and a double by Coots. Preble's single, Koral's walk and hits by Morse and Smith made it 4-0 in the fourth. Tommy Young made the fifth counter in the sixth on an infield hit, an error, Morse's second single and a fielder's choice. Jack Cook scored in the eighth when Terry muffed his fly. Stevens singled and Smith contributed a fielder's choice. An error on Koral and Cook's double completed Santa Ana's scoring.

The Stars meet Riverside at the Bowl next Tuesday night. The box score:

Umpires—Peters and Prietas.

Successful two-baggers in the eighth inning by Oscar Belolan and Alex Zikrath gave Riverside's American leaguers a hard earned 1-0 win over Orange at Riverside last night.

Lloyd Lichtenwalter and Roger Larimer both pitched winning ball for the Orangemen but their colleagues couldn't do anything with Jerry Parsons and Rudy Heman, Riverside's stingy slingers. Walt Leichtfuss almost tied it up for Orange in the ninth, however, when he rapped a long fly to right that Tucker caught over his shoulder after a long run. The score:

Second Blood Transfusion Given Kidder

Another blood transfusion was given Allen Kidder at St. Joseph hospital today in a desperate effort to save the life of the University of Southern California half-back.

Kidder's condition was considered extremely grave because of a septic infection. The athlete's temperature shot up during the night following an earlier blood transfusion but physicians reported they had expected the increased fever.

Kidder's thumb was bitten last week while fighting off hoodlums who created a disturbance at a malted milk shop where he worked in Los Angeles. The thumb became infected and the poison spread through his bloodstream.

TIME SUPPLY TOP ROW MAY TANGLE AGAIN

SAN BRUNO, April 11.—(UP)—

William Kyne, general manager of Bay Meadows track, revealed today that he is seeking to rematch A. A. Baron's Top Row and Frank Carraud's Time Supply and may arrange the meeting for the Bay Meadows Handicap May 9.

Bay Meadows opens its spring meeting Tuesday, upon conclusion of the current 25-day meeting at Tanforan.

A return meeting between the Baron thoroughbred and Time Supply has been sought since Top Row won the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap in February. Many insisted that Jockey Wayne Wright, aboard Top Row, fouled Time Supply, ridden by Tommy Luther, by cutting his mount for the rail just as Time Supply began his stretch rush.

Wright and Luther engaged in a jockey room battle after the race and have been bitter rivals since.

Warned by Presiding Steward George Schilling against rough tactics, they will ride off the grudge in today's $10,000 added Marchbank Handicap. Wright again astride Top Row and Luther riding Azucar, 1935 Santa Anita winner. Kyne said Carraud has asked him regarding conditions of the Bay Meadows Handicap, indicating he probably will send his stable from Arlington Downs, Texas. Kyne informed Carraud he would boost the handicap purse from $10,000 to $20,000 if Time Supply is entered. Baron already has indicated Top Row will be a contender.

HAPPY LADDIE COPS FEATURE: 500 AT OPENING

Sportsfolk from all over Southern California are expected at Orange County Downs tonight for their second dose of dog racing, and the prospect of holding a few "preferred options" on winning greyhounds.

Another eight-event program has been arranged by Presiding Judge Leo P. Quinn, the main event being the final race over the 500-yard Futurity distance. It brings into contention such highly regarded animals as Ping, a winner at $7.60 last night; My Sylvia, which ran Ping nip and tuck; Kentucky Red, sure to be one of the favorites; and Fiedlo, Laddie's Maid, Royalist and Hero's Patches.

Ping is out of the Santa Ana kennels of Oliver Jones who scored a grand slam in last night's windup, the Orange County Inaugural Handicap. This was a Futurity, and the odds-on choice, Happy Laddie, made good by winning in 29.4 seconds.

Hot on Happy Laddie's heels were two other Jones speedsters, Laddie's Maid and Traffic Laddie. Happy Laddie paid off on $2 "preferred options" at $2.40, $2.40 and $2.60. Laddie's Maid paid $2.40 and $2.40. Traffic Laddie showed at $5.30.

Armed Officer, which was made one of the favorites on its showing here last spring, ran a dismal race. Off poorly, he simply cantered around the track, and finished dead last.

About 500 attended the formal opening of the track. They showed an unfamiliarity with the "option system" but a fair sum passed through the windows nevertheless. The crowd thinned out near the end when a chilling breeze blew in a fog and made racing conditions unpleasant.

The results:
FIRST RACE—3/16 mile.
Billy R. (Norton Kennels).....$ 4.00 $ 2.40 $ 4.00
Sata Rock (Norton Kennels).....$ 4.80 $ 3.60 $ 3.00
Carol Lee (L. K. Moore).....$ 3.20

Time, 21 1/2 sec.
SECOND RACE—Futurity (Norton Kennels).....$ 4.80 $ 3.60 $ 3.00
White Domino (Norton Kennels).....$ 5.20 $ 3.00

YORBA LINDANS PLAN SERVICE EASTER MORN

YORBA LINDA, April 11.—Yorba Linda sunrise services will be held on the hill near the center of town about a large cross. The two churches will join and the Rev. Harley Moore of the East Whittier Friends church will deliver the Easter message, with the Rev. J. Hunter Smith of the Methodist church and the Rev. Sheldon Newkirk of the Friends church assisting.

Viola Renneker will open the services with a trumpet solo and Mrs. Newkirk will direct the group singing. Mrs. Newkirk and Mrs. Orville Warner will sing a duet. Immediately following the services, the young people of the Friends and the Methodist churches will join at the Friends social hall for an Easter breakfast.

"The Stone Against the Door" is the topic on which the Rev. Newkirk will talk in the morning. He will be assisted at the special services by Helen Barber, who will give a reading, and by Mrs. J. L. Albee, who will sing a solo. A quartet composed of Mrs. Albee, Sarah Jane Albee, Eva Friend and Margaret Warner will sing a quartet number.

The evening services will feature a play, "The Challenge of the Cross," with Emily Oas taking the part of "Evangel" and Ellen Ruth Holland, Helen Barber, Katherine Easter Shook, Earl Pace, Richard Cole and Herbert Warren taking parts of six disciples. A chorus of women, directed by Mrs. Newkirk, with Genevieve Townsend accompanying, will sing.

The children of the Sunday school and the congregation will unite in special Easter services Sunday morning at the Methodist church. The pastor will talk on "The Power of the Resurrection." Evangelistic services will be held at night.

METHODIST CHURCH ARRANGES SERVICES

WINTERSBURG, April 11.—Three services have been arranged by the Wintersburg Methodist Community church. At 10:30 o'clock the pastor will speak on "The Awakening." The anthem, "Upon the First Day of the Week," by Adams, will be presented by the choir, with the solo part taken by J. A. Murdy Jr.

At 7:30 p. m. the choir, assisted by the Young People's class, will present the drama, "The Resurrection of Peter," which will be in two scenes as directed by Mrs. Tucker, class teacher. The character parts will be taken by Miss Donna Stinson, Sam Gossney, David Gardner, Alvin Graham, Wallace Blaylock, William Blaylock, Miss Elaine Dwyer, Miss Doris Moore, Dick Moore, John Tucker, with Dwayne Moore as the reader.

Music will include a soprano solo, "A Vision of Angels," Mrs. Joseph Thompson; contralto solo, "On the Cross Lifted," Mrs. Eva Beem; chorus, "Behold What Manifold of Love," by the choir, and chorus, "Easter Flowers Are Blooming Bright" and "Crown Him," all by Adams.

For the sunrise service at 5:30 o'clock, the Wintersburg church joins with other churches at the Garden Grove Methodist church.

CHURCH HEADS

The Rev. B. L. Howse, pastor, and Mrs. Howse, co-pastor of the Four-square Gospel church in Garden Grove. The new church building will be dedicated tomorrow. The Rev. Billy Black, district superintendent, will speak at the morning services and in the evening evangelistic services will be opened.

PLAN EASTER SUNRISE RITES IN PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, April 11.—Brea and Placentia will co-operate in Easter sunrise services sponsored by the Placentia Chamber of Commerce on Tuffee hill at 5:30 o'clock. E. A. Eisenacher, president of the Placentia Pioneer brotherhood, is chairman of the general committee of the chamber of commerce.

The program will open with a bugle call by Warren Bradford. After a song by the brotherhood quartet, Dr. D. J. Belgham of the Presbyterian church will pronounce the invocation. Ed Backs will sing a vocal solo; the Rev. Leonardo Ballostris will read the scripture lesson; girls of the Valencia High school glee club will sing special numbers; the Rev. Ben Buelke of the Church of the Nazarene will deliver a sermon on "The Resurrection of Our Lord" and the Rev. Don Midgland of the Calvary church will pronounce the benediction.

Parties Held In J. McIntosh Home

WINTERSBURG, April 11.—Two Easter parties were held this week in the J. W. McIntosh home. Eunice Mary McIntosh and Sara Jean McIntosh were hostesses to 15 of their young school friends at a party at which an Easter egg hunt was a feature and refreshments were reminiscent of the Easter season, with jello and cookies served.

Frederick McIntosh, who teaches a class of boys at the First Baptist Sunday school at Huntington Beach, brought the group to his home for a wicker bake. Games and entertainment.

MARRIAGE TOLD CHURCHES OF AT RECEPTION IN MESA HOME

COSTA MESA, April 11.—Mr. and Mrs. William Bremer were hosts to a group of intimate friends at a reception in the George Bremer home on Eighteenth street Thursday evening, at which time announcement was made of the young people's wedding, which took place a year ago. Mr. and Mrs. Bremer were married in Santa Cruz.

Mrs. Bremer was formerly Miss Mary Helen Willcutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Willcutt, of Costa Mesa. Mr. Bremer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bremer. Both young people are graduates of Santa Ana high school. Mr. Bremer attended the Woodbury institute in Los Angeles and Mrs. Bremer the Business Institute of Santa Ana.

The Bremer home was beautifully decorated in the Easter motif for the occasion. Japanese iris and yellow snapdragons intermingled with greenery being used. The centerpiece of the table at which refreshments were served was a large Easter basket and small Easter baskets were arranged at each place. A scroll bearing the wedding announcement was attached to the individual baskets. Mrs. Bremer wore a corsage of gardenias.

Ice cream, cake and coffee were served by the hosts, assisted by the groom's mother, Mrs. George Bremer.

Those at the function besides the hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Eastman, Mrs. Arthur Morley, the Misses Virginia McLeelan, Ardith Lewis, Margaret Willcutt, Helen Davis, Ethel Kinley, Roberta Middleton, Blanche Stogel, and Doris McMurtry. Denny Holland, John Willcutt, Hugh Davis and Richard Owen.

Mr. and Mrs. Bremer are at home at 907 Park avenue, Balboa Island. Mr. Bremer is a member of the clerical staff of the Federal Air forces.

Missionary Work Told By Couple

GARDEN GROVE, April 11.—The Rev. and Mrs. John Burman, who are in charge of the Mexican mission at Westminster, spoke on their work in different countries at the joint meeting of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies held in the First Methodist church Thursday. After their addresses Mrs. Arthur Schnitzer read a poem and presented them with kitchen articles and foodstuffs from the members.

Members of the Foreign society planned a program for the evening of April 24 in the church auditorium. There will be a speaker from Santa Ana and a skit will be presented by members. Mrs. E. R. Schneider will be in charge. A silver offering will be taken.

Franklin McDonald gave vocal selections, including "The Holy City," accompanied at the piano by Irvine German Jr. Hostesses at the luncheon were Madeline W. W. Dungan, J. C. Mitchell and Edward Chaffee.

CHURCHES OF PLACENTIA TO HOLD SERVICES

PLACENTIA, April 11.—Special services will be held at the Calvary church tomorrow starting with worship at 9:30 a. m., when the pastor, the Rev. Don Milligan, will preach on "The World's Hope." Under direction of the pastor, the choir will present special numbers. Mrs. MacNames will sing a solo. Children of the Sunday school will present a program at the Sunday school hour, under direction of Dorothy Woodward and Dorothy Allen.

The choir and members will provide special Easter music at the evening services. The pastor will talk on "Four Gardens." Included in the special musical program will be a solo by Howard Jerome and by Lois Risher.

At the Church of the Nazarene, the Sunday school will give a program at 9:45 a. m. Mrs. Vernon Reed, Mrs. A. Renfro and Mrs. Ben Buelke, substituting for Mrs. Frank Summers, are in charge of the three departments.

At the morning service of worship, special musical numbers will be given by the choir; Doris Hill will sing a solo and Edith Hart and Essie Watson will sing a duet. The evening services at 7:30 o'clock will be devoted to a special Easter cantata, "The Prince of Life," under direction of Earl Hill. There will be 30 voices in the chorus. Vernon Reed will read the accompanying descriptive parts.

A special musical program will be presented at 11 a. m. hour at the Presbyterian church. The pastor, the Rev. L. J. Brigham,

Valencia School Students To Take Part In Contest

PLACENTIA, April 11.—Howard Hawkins, instructor in the agricultural department of the Valencia High school, is planning to take his judging team to Davis for the live stock judging contest next week end. The boys who will accompany him are Clifford Hargrave, Richard Schade, and Lewis Richardson in the live stock team, and Arnold Solesbee, Allen Shook and Russell Smith in the poultry team.

AUXILIARY GROUP HOLDS INITIATION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 11.—With the drill team from the Women's auxiliary of the Santa Ana post, American Legion, in charge of the initiatory work, the auxiliary of the Huntington Beach post Thursday night sponsored the initiation of members for auxiliaries in the county.

Included in the list of county auxiliaries with candidates initiated at the meeting were Huntington Beach, Laguna Beach and Placentia. Following the initiatory work Mrs. Marjorie Peabody, La Habra, president of the 21st district of the auxiliary, spoke briefly.

Refreshments were served and members of the auxiliaries and Legion posts, attending the affair, finished the evening with dancing.

will preach on "Jesus Christ Risen From the Dead." The choir of the church will present another musical program at the evening service.

FARM CENTER HEARS TALK BY ASSEMBLYMAN

GARDEN GROVE, April 11.—Assemblyman James V. Utt, of Austin, spoke on legislative problems at the meeting of the Garden Grove Farm center held in the Woman's Civic clubhouse Thursday evening. He told of the growth of government in California and the establishment of the department of agriculture.

The business meeting was in charge of Ivan Harper, second vice president. After the director's report had been given by Walter Schmitt, Jack Crill spoke briefly on rural relief problems and C. J. Marks on the soil conservation act. W. M. Cory, assistant farm advisor, announced the farm bureau picnic at Irvine park May 16.

H. Clay Kellogg, president, announced a meeting of all committees and officers at his home the evening of April 20 at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of outlining work of the different departments. Mrs. Leslie Waigh, chairman of the home department, urged members of the department to attend a dress finishing demonstration at the clubhouse April 21 at 10:30 a. m.

The musical program consisted of several vocal selections sung by Isadore Field, accompanied at the piano by his son. Hostesses at the dinner preceding the meeting were Mrs. J. G. Allen, Mrs. F. L. Benson and Mrs. Leslie Waigh.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
TOBY RYAN, 19, is a photographic model, posing for photographers to be used in advertisements. Unknown at first, she is now a high demand in the studio, particularly after she is chosen as "The Hillyer Soap Girl." Toby shared her secret with her friend, HILLYER, another model, engaged to marry CLYDE SABIN.

After Toby's discovery, Tim telephoned, but Toby refused an explanation for not seeing him. JAY ELLYER, president of the Hillyer company, comes to the studio, while Toby is posing for some photographs. Later she goes to dinner with him.

NOW ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XVIII
TOBY went with Jay Hillyer to see "Here Comes the Queen."

The play was gay and amusing and brilliantly staged. The star was radiant and graceful dancer—a dynamic little creature who looked scarcely older than Toby herself. She sang almost as well as she danced and her costumes were dazzlingly lovely.

Toby said, over her shoulder to Hillyer, "She's beautiful, isn't she?" He agreed, "Toby, intent on the scene behind the footlights, was not aware that Hillyer's eyes were on her more often than they were on the stage."

She went to dinner with him twice in the week that followed and to a concert. On Sunday they drove to a famous inn across the Hudson. Toby enjoyed that, too. She hadn't realized that spring had actually arrived. Trees were spreading their leaves and fields were deep green. The sunshine was warm and yellow.

She said, "It must be wonderful to live in the country." "Would you like that?" "More than anything I can imagine. Think of looking at trees like those" (Toby swept one arm in a wide gesture toward a picturesque group at the right) "and think of being where you can really see the sky and walk on grass with no 'Keep Off' signs. And being able to see things growing and maybe plant them. I'd have a garden if I lived in the country. And I'd have a dog—no, two of them. And all day long I'd stay out in the sunshine."

Hillyer laughed. "You make it sound attractive," he said, "yet I imagine there are hundreds of girls who have all those things who would be glad to change places with you."

"Then they'd be making a mistake." "I have a country place," Hillyer's tone was sober. "It's in Connecticut. I don't seem to be able to spend much time there."

In New York, she knew, he lived at a hotel. A very elegant hotel where everything he could possibly want was supplied him.

"I should think you'd like being in the country," Toby told him.

"I might, if there were someone there to make it seem like home. Most of the time it doesn't seem worth the bother to make the trip out there. Getting old, I guess."

Hillyer had often made reference to his age. He did it jokingly, yet Toby felt that the fact that the years were creeping on disturbed him. She didn't know how old he was. At first she had thought of him as definitely middle-aged, but now that she knew him better he seemed younger. He was leanly-built, athletic. She knew he liked sports, though he seemed to have little time for them. He might be 40 or he might be closer to 50. That, of course, was old to Toby.

It was a day or so after that drive into the country that Harriet found Len Logan's column in the evening newspaper and showed it to Toby. The columnist had written:

"What soap manufacturer whose initials are 'J. H.' is being seen about the hot spots these spring evenings with the oh-so-pretty young thing whose picture appears in the soap advertisements? Although the report has been denied, friends hint that the couple will middle-aid it within a few weeks."

Harriet put down the newspaper with a flourish. "Well," she said, "what about it?"

"It's easy enough to know who Logan means. What about it? If there's going to be a wedding I'd like to know about it."

Toby took the newspaper and read it for herself. "Oh!" she said, "why do they print such things? It's dreadful—they haven't any right—"

"Maybe not, but what I want to know is, is it true?"

"Of course it's not true—that is, if you think it's about—"

"I know who it's about all right. How many soap manufacturers do you think there are in New York whose initials are 'J. H.'?"

"But it's not true, Harriet. And it spoils things so. Mr. Hillyer's been awfully nice to me, but we're just friends. There's nothing more to it than that. I think it's dreadful for anyone to try to make out that there is. I wish this hadn't happened!"

"Don't worry about it," Harriet said easily. "I just wanted to get it straight—"

But Toby did worry. Others read Len Logan's paragraph and spoke about it. There were jibes at the studios and at the Model League office, and since Toby was so plainly embarrassed, her denials were accepted as proving the rumor.

SHE had a dinner engagement with Hillyer which she almost broke. At the last minute she decided to go through with it. She would have to see him some time, she thought, and might as well have it over with.

She was relieved that he said nothing about the gossip column. They went to the restaurant where he had taken her the first night they had dined together.

Hillyer talked of events in the day's news. He had an amusing story to tell and asked about how she had spent the day.

"He doesn't read Len Logan's column," Toby decided. "Or at least he didn't see that one."

And then Hillyer surprised her. The waiter took away the soup plates and brought fresh ones. Hillyer looked up and said, "Sympathy—"

"Yes, Mr. Hillyer." "Would you say this was a 'hot spot'?"

The waiter hesitated an instant, the gravity of his face unchanging. Then he said, "No, sir."

Hillyer leaned back in his chair. "Neither would I," he said. "If that was a reference to Len Logan's paragraph, it was the only one Jay Hillyer made."

The gossip columnist seemed less important after that, and Toby decided to forget his harp. When anyone said anything about the reported romance, she laughed and was surprised to find that this attitude seemed to discourage questioners.

She had more time with Harriet these days. Clyde Sabin was away on another trip.

"Maybe," Harriet said, "the next time he goes, I'll go with him." She was buying her trousseau and insisted that Toby must accompany her on many of the shopping trips. Harriet was a shrewd shopper, but now she wanted advice. Gowns were selected and sent home, only to be returned. She couldn't decide between the blue negligee and the yellow one. And what about shoes? Did the ones with the buckles or the straps look best?

Toby heard these questions and others again and again. She answered as well as she could and she tried to be enthusiastic when Harriet talked of Clyde and her plans.

That was the hardest. Toby still distrusted Clyde Sabin. She hated to think Harriet was going to marry him, that she was taking a thing in the world that she could do about it. She couldn't say, "Harriet, I don't think you should marry Clyde because he tried to make a date with me."

No, she couldn't do that. She couldn't do anything at all except help choose the dresses and hats and shoes Harriet was to wear on her honeymoon and hope that her fears might prove unfounded.

Toby was going to keep the apartment. She was earning enough now so that she could afford it. The furniture was Harriet's, but she wanted Toby to keep that, too.

"She'll be living in a hotel," Harriet said, "at least for a while. He'd rather go with Clyde when he's away on trips, than stay here alone, so an apartment would be a nuisance. After while we'll have a place of our own, but, in the meantime, I'd like to have you keep my things."

Toby agreed. It would be lonely some without Harriet and she was glad she could stay in the same cheerful surroundings.

She had promised to go with Harriet to look at some hats one afternoon, but first she had an appointment at the beauty shop.

"I'll meet you at a quarter of four," Toby said. "At the street entrance of the store."

"All right. I'll be there."

Toby hurried away. She finished at the beauty shop and went on to the store. Harriet was not in sight when she arrived there.

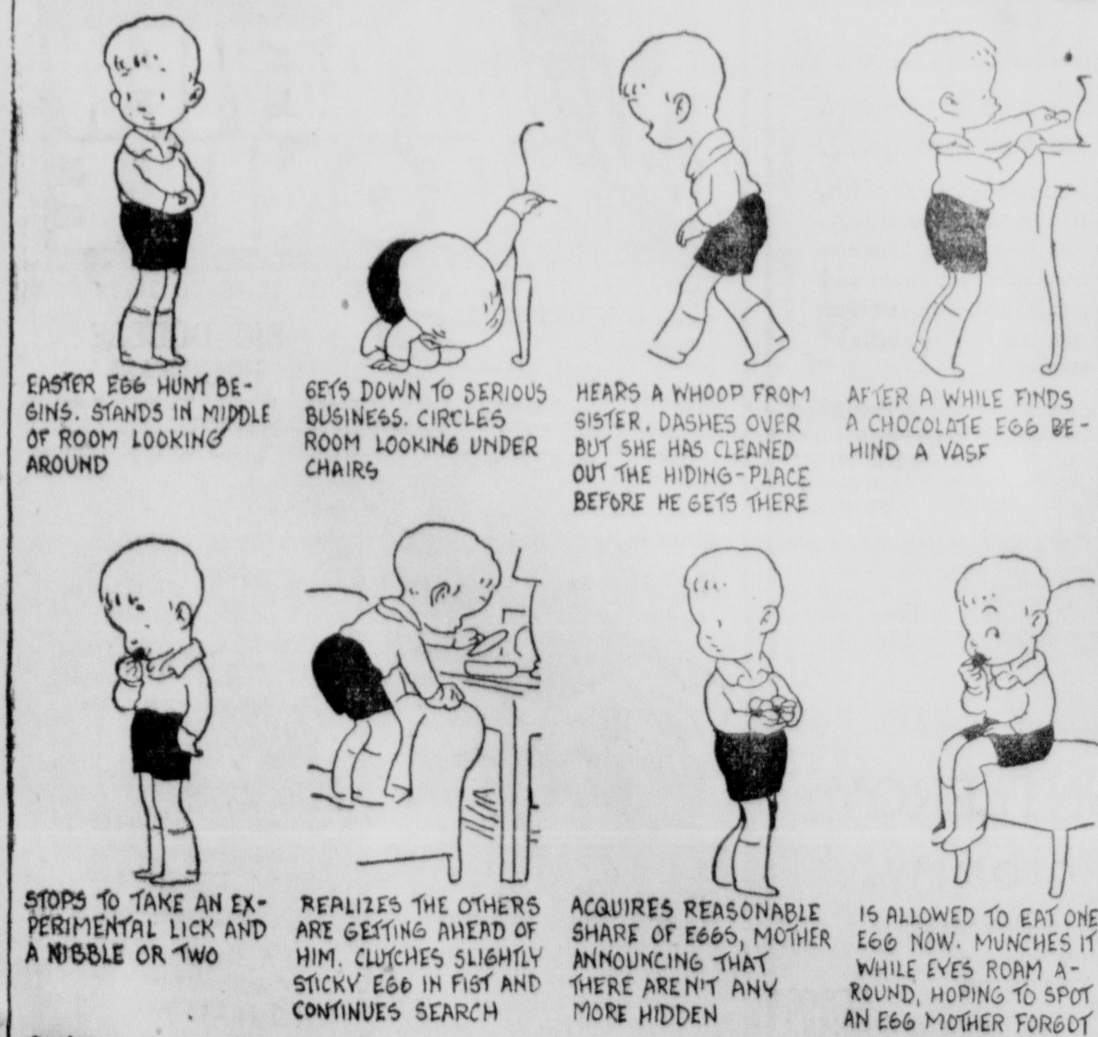

"She'll probably come in a few minutes," Toby told herself, and strolled on to look at a shop window.

The window proved uninteresting. Toby turned away a moment later and noticed a man coming toward her. He was of medium height and he wore a rather shabby suit and a dark hat. Toby had seen him somewhere. She tried to think where, but couldn't remember. The next instant he was beside her.

The man stopped. "So I've found you again!" he said. "This time you're coming with me!"

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

The International Astronomical Union recently readjusted the boundary lines of the 89 constellations of the heavens. All star atlases now will agree in this respect.

The heavens are divided into 89 constellations, 48 of which were known to the ancients. The remainder were formed mostly during the 16th and 17th centuries. The new boundaries are arcs of circles on the celestial sphere, corresponding to circles of longitude on the earth.

TWO FEATURES AT WEST COAST ON WEDNESDAY

A double feature program with "The We Meet Again," co-starring Herbert Marshall and Gertrude Michael, and "13 Hours by Air," featuring Fred MacMurray and Joan Bennett, will show at the West Coast theater starting next Wednesday. It was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

"The We Meet Again" is said to be a stark love drama, aided by exceptionally fine acting, artistic photography and carefully selected settings. It is a presentation of life studded against a background of intriguing espionage and war.

The story opens in 1914 when England declared war on Germany when Marshall and Miss Michael, both on the stage, are parted on the eve of their wedding because of the war.

Later both are thrust into daring espionage systems, the girl responding to her native country, Germany, while the man is pressed into service with the British intelligence service. They meet in Germany at the height of the war, after sacrificing so much for their countries, they respond to love and set out to escape to Holland. The cast includes Lionel Atwill, Rod LaRocque, Guy Bates Post and others.

MEXICAN CATHEDRAL

The hallowed building stands, serene and gray,
With towers lifted to the summer sky,
A motley throng speed past it on their way,
And overhead the airplanes dip and fly.
Just as it stood, when Mexicans rode through
These ways in uniform, long years ago,
(Somewhere a star was rising in the blue),
And Texans waited at the Alamo.
A wave of speech drifts from the market near,
When bread is sold and fruits are red as rust,
To break in laughter, furrowed, high and clear,
While days, like petals, wither and are dust,
At intervals, with deep-toned melody,
Its bell peals forth a single brooding note.

Within the silence hovers like a scent
Among the carven arches overhead,
And still the heart with a divine content,
The while no hymn is sung nor word is read.
Pale candles glimmer by the massive door
On pictured saints that dream along the walls,
Dim webs of shadow drift along the floor,

DRAMA OF GOLD RUSH THURSDAY AT BROADWAY

Picturizing the most dramatic era in development of California, leading to the great gold rush in '49, "Sutter's Gold" will open at the Broadway theater next Thursday with a second feature, "Too Many Parents." It was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Edward Arnold is starred as John Sutter who established the "empire" of new Helvetia in California, in "Sutter's Gold." The opening scene finds Sutter in his native Switzerland. Then the story follows him to America, across the continent to Oregon, to the Sandwich Islands and finally to California, where most of the action takes place.

The frenzied lawlessness of the gold rush brings ruin to Sutter. When his spirit has reached its lowest ebb his wife gives him new courage. Dramatic events follow in swift succession and the final sequences show Sutter in Washington, D. C., carrying on a long distance campaign to secure redress from the government. The supporting cast includes Lee Tracy, Binnie Barnes, Katherine Alexander, Addison Richards, Montagu Love and John Miljan.

"Too Many Parents" deals with the most poignant problems of modern children whom divorce and parental bickering have made homeless. Frances Farmer and Lester Matthews are in the lead roles, with five famous juvenile actors, Sherwood Bailey, George Ernest, Douglas Scott, Buster Phelps and Billy Lee in the cast, which includes Henry Travers and Porter Hall. How the courage and spunk of a boy wins him his father's love forms the theme of the film.

Short subjects on the program will include "Football Bugs," a color cartoon, and World News events.

Starting Sunday, April 19, the Broadway will show "A Message to Garcia" with John Boles and Wallace Beery and "Garden Murder Case" with Edmund Lowe and Virginia Bruce.

As through the window iris daylight falls,
And surely peace is waiting in the aisles,
Where men and women softly come and go,
And Christ looks down from Calvary and smiles
On these His children in a wistful row,
Stir lightly, worshipers, the heavy air,
The whispered hopes of centuries are there.

BLUE PAINTING
I waited long, no matter when or where,
Alone, and saw a picture, one of two,
A silver line around a splash of blue;
Then looking closer, traced the figures there:
Two girls in ancient Roman dress, a stair,
A turquoise lake, a tree of carmine hue,
With petals in the water, and a view
Of mountains in the early morning air.

Later I saw the picture on the floor
Of memory, and it is mine to keep,
A harmless theft; and sparkles near the door
That locks my whims, and often, half asleep,
I linger near these joyous girls in white,
And share their endless moment of delight.

AT BROADWAY SUNDAY

NOW AT WEST COAST

Marking her return to the screen after an absence of four years, Dolores Costello Barrymore is co-starred with Freddie Bartholomew, noted child actor, in "Little Lord Fauntleroy," film version of the world famous novel by Frances Hodgson Burnett, which now is showing at the West Coast theater.

BREA LIONS HEAR ADDRESS ON TAXES

BREA, April 11.—R. B. Huxtable, president of the High School Teachers' association of Los Angeles, spoke on the subject of "Taxes" at this week's meeting of Brea Lions. He was presented by Vincent Jaster, program chairman. J. R. Collins, president, presided.

William Phillips, director of the Brea grammar school orchestra, lead the Lions in singing a number of old time favorites, playing the piano accompaniment.

A report on the status of the Boy Scout situation in Brea and of the camp in Irvine park was given by "Bud" Phillips, who said there are more than 40 Scouts in the Brea troops.

A committee from the Brea Woman's club served the luncheon. Mrs. G. C. Folckemer as chairman was assisted by Mrs. Carrie Killian, Mrs. W. E. Griffith, Mrs. V. J. Kubin, Mrs. Winnifred Grabill and Mrs. Ida Salen.

CENTER TOLD WORK OF CO-OPERATIVES

PLACENTIA, April 11.—Co-operatives of Denmark have increased the wealth of the country, have regulated prices, have changed the classes of farmers from a state of servitude to a state of citizenship and have built up a dependable produce, according to D. S. Halladay, president of the Placentia Farm Center, who gave the principal talk at the April meeting in the Ann Marie tea room Friday night.

Prior to his review of the causes for the organization, the means of organization and the results of the co-operative movement Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, showed a reel of pictures of Denmark.

William Blefeldt read a report of the activity of the farm bureau. R. D. Flaherty said detailed reports on the proposed new farm bureau buildings will be ready to present next fall.

Arrange Program For Relief Corps

MIDWAY CITY, April 11.—The first anniversary of the organization of the William A. Smalley Woman's Relief corps is being observed Monday evening at the local Woman's clubhouse. There will be a program and refreshments served during the social hour. Mrs. Alice Rumbold and her committee will act as hostesses.

JOLSON MUSIC FILM ON TWIN BILL SUNDAY

Al Jolson's great new musical comedy "The Singing Kid" opens an engagement at the Broadway theater tomorrow with a second feature, "Two in Revolt," unusual animal feature, it was announced today by Manager Lester J. Fountain.

Declared by critics as the greatest picture Al Jolson ever made, "The Singing Kid" in a human, appealing story with music. Bob-Sy Connolly, the famous dance maestro, was in charge of staging the spectacular specialty numbers which feature the film and in which appear some of Hollywood's most beautiful dancing girls. One sequence features black beauties imported from Harlem.

The picture is said to carry more of a story than the ordinary musical drama or comedy. It deals with a famous entertainer whose gold-digging fiancée plays him for a sucker and then runs off with his lawyer who has robbed him of every cent he possesses. To top it all, his voice goes back on him and he is forced to go to the woods to recuperate. But there he meets a beautiful girl with whom he falls madly in love.

After a series of entanglements the story winds up on Broadway again in a most pleasing and surprising climax. Rhythmic comedy situations highlight the film, the cast of which includes Beverly Roberts, Sybil Jason, Claire Dodd, Edward Everett Horton, Allen Jenkins, Jack Durant, Frank Mitchell, and Wini Shaw.

A unique friendship between a thoroughbred horse and a semi-wild dog forms the theme of "Two in Revolt," a remarkable dramatization of animal nature with Lightning, a trained police dog, and Warrior, a blooded stallion. How this friendship motivates the action of the story and welds the romance of a boy and girl makes strikingly novel screen entertainment. The cast includes John Arledge, Louise Latimer and Moroni Olsen.

L. A. HOGUE BEGINS WORK AS P. O. HEAD

BREA, April 11.—L. A. "Mike" Hogue, new postmaster of Brea, began his duties this morning. George Friend, retiring postmaster, is to be immediately associated with a Los Angeles office dealing in income tax returns.

The matter of selecting a village mail carrier from among those taking the examination recently has been left to the new postmaster. It is expected the selection will be made early next week. Bert Kewish has been substituting in that capacity since the transfer of Bruce LePage to Laguna Beach some months ago.

Japanese Plan Easter Services

WINTERSBURG, April 11.—Easter is being observed at the Wintersburg Japanese Presbyterian church with special services.

At 2 p. m., the pastor, the Rev. K. Kikuchi, will preach and will hold a baptismal service at which several persons will be admitted to church membership. A program which will include violin solo numbers by Miss Sumi Okiyama, accomplished musician, and songs and recitations by the Sunday school children will be presented. The Rev. Mr. Moore of the Presbyterian Extension board will be present from Los Angeles.

JIMMY FIDLER in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, April 11.—To balance the many glorified benefits of film stardom, the work takes terrific toll in health. Deaths of pitifully young stars such as Mabel Normand, Lilyan Tashman, Renee Adoree, Barbara La Marr, Alma Reubens, Wallace Reid and many, many more add up a fearful total in red figures to more than balance the black. Few screen actors have died natural deaths; inevitably the demise of a star may be traced to broken nerves, or to internal wreckage caused by the mad struggle to keep pace with the demands of fame — demands ten times more stringent than in other professions.

This business that appears fun to the outsider is actually much more strenuous than ordinary physical occupations. In the course of a picture, Greta Garbo will lose from eight to twelve pounds. She has been known to finish a tense emotional scene wringing wet with her own perspiration. Too, there is the old adage, "the show must go on;" stars often work when their doctors are frantically urging them to bed, or even to hospitals. Stage stars, in emergencies, may relinquish their parts to understudies; but once a screen star has commenced a picture, he cannot be replaced except by complete elimination and retakes—often a matter of hundreds of thousands of dollars. Thus it is an unwritten law of the studios: "Keep on as long as you can keep on." And they do keep on regardless of the cost of health.

A newspaper reporter named Lloyd Brownfield has lived in Hollywood for fifteen years, and during that time has become a friend of scores of stars. A short while back, "Brownie" and his wife bought a small house on the outskirts of the film colony. The purchase left their bank account dry—and there was still furniture to be obtained. Brownfield remedied that in a most novel manner. He went to numerous of his screen star friends and "borrowed" pieces of furniture. Bit by bit, he got enough to make his home livable. Now his guests are treated to a most unusual sight: Each piece of borrowed furniture is marked with a metal tag bearing the name of the lender. Just for example, there are a "Bing Crosby chair," a "Richard Arlen divan," and a "Jack Oakie table." And this will kill you: A "Helen Twelvrees bed."

Mae West has just received two full books of sweepstakes tickets from a New England woman. They were accompanied by a polite request that "Diamond Lil" sell them to her wealthy movie star friends. Quite thoughtfully, the sender inscribed her own name on all the counterfoils, so that if one of the tickets sold by Mae should prove a winner, the New England woman would receive the seller's share of the prize money.

LODGE PLANS PROGRAM

WESTMINSTER, April 11.—Vice Grands night for Aloha Rebekah lodge will be observed Tuesday evening in connection with the regular meeting of the lodge in Odd Fellows hall, and at that time Mrs. Elizabeth Hall, vice grand of the local lodge, will preside and vice grands of lodges in the district will be special guests.

"LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY" AT WEST COAST

An old friend in new guise is being welcomed by theatergoers at the West Coast theater where little Freddie Bartholomew plays a completely de-siffed "Little Lord Fauntleroy" bereft of the traditional long golden curls, plush suit and lace collar in the film version of the famous novel by Frances Hodgson Burnett.

The picture, which will close on Tuesday night at the West Coast, marks the return of lovely Dolores Costello Barrymore to the screen after an absence of four years. She is co-starred with Freddie in the role of the young Lord's adored young mother, "Dearest."

The picture was faithfully adapted to the screen by the famous novelist, Hugh Walpole. It tells, in heart-warming terms, the familiar story of the little American lad, who became a Lord and went to live in a castle with his grandfather, the gruff, goutridden old Earl of Dorincourt, played by C. Aubrey Smith, and was separated from the dear widowed mother whom the stubborn Earl refused to receive inside the castle because his son had married her against his wishes.

How the child wins his way into the old man's heart and transforms him into a loving and delightful grandfather, is charmingly depicted amid smiles and heart-tugs and tears.

Eventually the old Earl softens even toward "Dearest," but is too proud to seek her out until his new found happiness is endangered by the appearance of another claimant to the title of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" in the person of an unpleasant little chap named Bevis (Jackie Searl).

Featured on the program of selected short subjects on the program is the sensational three-dimensional scientific novelty, "Au descopics." The other short subjects include a Meglin Kiddies production, "Regular Kids," and World News events.

DOUBLE BILL AT BROADWAY CLOSES

Theatergoers in Santa Ana and vicinity will have the last chance tonight to see an outstanding bill at the Broadway theater, with "Give Us This Night" and "Here Comes Trouble."

Jan Kiepura, famous European tenor, and Gladys Swarthout, beautiful, young Metropolitan Opera star, are co-starred in "Give Us This Night," unique in that a new opera is introduced for the first time in a motion picture. The film tells how the young opera star discovers a handsome young Italian fisherman with a remarkable voice and aids him in his rise to fame. Paul Kelly and Arline Judge head the cast in "Here Comes Trouble," a fast-paced romantic comedy of life aboard a luxury liner, complicated for the sailor-hero by a group of jewel thieves. The cast includes Mona Barrie, Gregory Ratoff, Edward Brophy and Halliwell Hobbes.

SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, SATURDAY, APRIL 11, 1936

City Judge's
Daughter Is
Bride In Yuma

Miss Clarice Marie Mitchell and John B. Mitchell made a quiet departure from Santa Ana this week for a trip to Yuma, Ariz., where they were married yesterday at high noon, according to a telegram received by the bride's father, City Judge J. G. Mitchell.

The bride, who is the only daughter of Judge Mitchell and the late Mrs. Mitchell, 310 South Sycamore street, came to Santa Ana with her parents in 1914 from Fairmont, Minn. She attended the local schools, graduating from Polytechnic High school with the class of 1926. She took a commercial course, and accepted a position with the Orange County Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company. At the present time she is assistant secretary for the firm.

The bridegroom is the youngest son of W. T. Mitchell, 520 West Second street. Following graduation from the local high school, he attended California Christian College, Los Angeles. He operates a used car market at Second and Sycamore streets.

Tustin Church Lends
Setting For Quiet
Wedding

A charming simplicity marked the marriage rites of Miss Maxine Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Ehrler, 106 Mountain View drive, Tustin, and William R. Winters, 107 West Seventeenth street, which occurred at 7 o'clock Friday evening at the manse of the First Presbyterian church of Tustin.

The pastor, the Rev. Calvin A. Duncan, officiated at the single ring ceremony, which was witnessed by 15 close relatives. The couple were unattended.

The attractive young bride was attired in a blue silk wedding gown, with white accessories. The event was followed by the serving of refreshments, including a bride's cake, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ehrler and their children, John and Phyllis Ehrler.

For going away, the new Mrs. Winters donned a pink and blue silk suit. Following their short honeymoon trip, the young couple will establish their home in a Santa Ana apartment.

The bride attended Murphysboro High school in Illinois and also Tustin Union High school. Mr. Winters attended Los Angeles High school. He is employed at Case's service station, Mountain View drive and First street, Tustin.

Merry Party Marks
Seventh Birthday

Master Don Bobzin's seventh birthday anniversary was occasion for a merry party given Thursday afternoon in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bobzin, 936 Grand avenue.

Games and contests occupied the group during the early part of the afternoon. The celebrant was showered with gifts.

Mrs. Bobzin was assisted by Mrs. H. T. Richardson of Long Beach in serving birthday cake, frosted animal cookies and ice cream designed with Easter symbols. Tiny nests of Easter eggs were favors at a large table set in the back yard of the home. Flowers and ferns completed the effective setting.

Included in the guest group were Don's playmates in the first grade at John Muir school. They were Carol Jean Bennett, Karen Bugge, Norman Hasenager, David Daley, Bobbie Cole, Newbert Perrin, Orrin McCament, Carl Stevens, Richard Warner, Billy Bolton, Claude Andros and Louis Montoya. Completing the group with Don were his brother, Pat; Eleanor and Bobbie Willett of this city; Harlow Richardson, Long Beach.

Contract Club
Holds Session
In Burke Home

It was in the delightful hill-top home of the J. F. Burkes on Panorama Heights, that members of the Thursday Contract club congregated Thursday afternoon, to give to bridge such attention as might be won from the spring panorama of the valley spread beneath their gaze.

Mrs. Burke served a dessert course immediately upon arrival of her guests, seating them at tables bright with sweet peas in rainbow hues. Mrs. C. M. Rowland and Mrs. J. E. Gowen were the only absentees, and their places were taken by Mrs. E. E. Keech and Mrs. J. S. Smart.

Others to complete the two tables of bridge with the hostess, Mrs. Burke, were Mrs. Edward M. Nealley, Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, Miss Betha May, Mrs. W. Maxwell Burke and Mrs. N. A. Beals.

Happy Day Anticipated
By Santa Anans at Palm Springs

Easter Sunday on the desert is to be the pleasant experience tomorrow of a group of Santa Anans and their interesting house-guests, who will motor to Palm Springs to be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. John M. Wheeler in the cottage which they maintain at the resort.

In the party will be Mr. and Mrs. Mark B. Lacy and their daughter, Miss Betty Lacy, Mr. and Mrs. Horace B. Van Dien, Mr. and Mrs. Emrys D. White and their daughter, Miss Nancy White, with several houseguests, their son and daughter-in-law, the Emrys Whites Jr. of Anaheim, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth and additional houseguests.

These various visitors in Santa Ana comprise some extremely interesting people who will share the enjoyable day. Miss Nancy White, who is home from Scripps college for the Easter recess, is entertaining one of her school friends, Miss Elaphet Petrie, while Miss Carolyn White of Redlands and Mrs. Ray Fager, Margaret White) of Chicago, will complete the group going from the "White House," 2115 North Broadway. Mr. Fager left last night for Chicago after a short visit here following the trip which he and Mrs. Fager made to Honolulu.

The Lloyd Chenoweths, 2511 North Park boulevard, are entertaining guests who will join in the merry caravan. They are Mrs. William Brackett of Washington, D.C., and her niece, Miss Cabell Ducey, daughter of Captain David Ducey of the naval yards at Washington. In addition they will be joined by Ensign Stuart Fletcher, nephew of Mrs. Chenoweth, and two of his brother-in-laws, Ted Nieman and Jack Probasco of the U. S. cruiser "San Francisco," of the naval base at Long Beach.

The C. F. Smiths Sail
Tuesday Afternoon
For Orient

Japan's springtime, with its wisteria blooms and other colorful flowers will be enjoyed this year by Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith, 117 North Broadway, who have completed plans to sail Tuesday, April 14, from Wilmington for the Orient.

They will board the S. S. Taiyo Maru, which will embark at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Their travels will keep them away from home for more than two months.

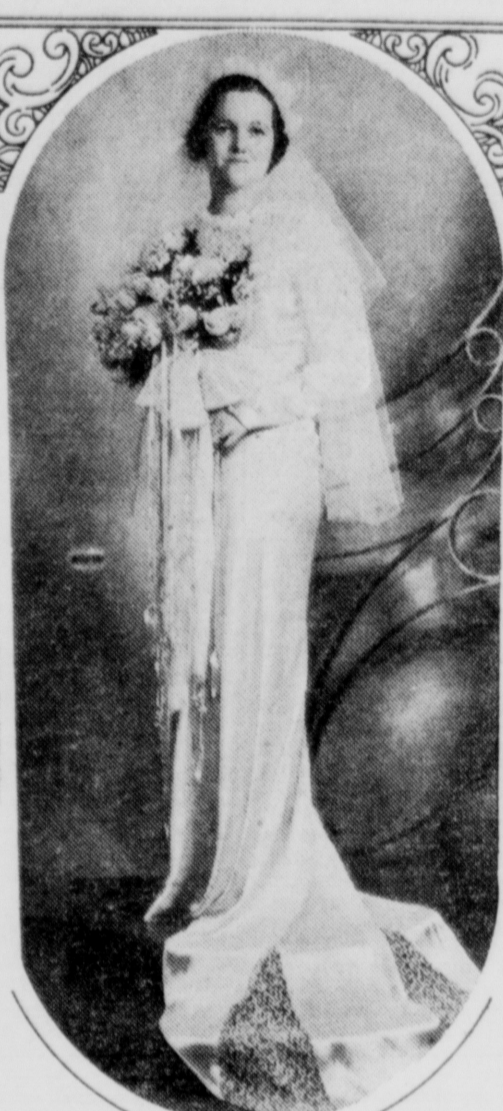

One of the first stops, of course, will be in Honolulu. Continuing to Japan and China, they will make an extensive tour of various ports and other points of interest. Yokohama will be their first destination in Japan. From Shanghai they will go up to Peking, stopping at Nanking and Tientsin, China, and across the Yellow sea to Kobi, Japan.

During their absence, Mr. and Mrs. Smith's home will be occupied by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Flint.

Mrs. Fred W. Butterbaugh was a lovely bride Saturday evening, April 4 at a ceremony in Santa Ana Church of the Brethren. She is the former Miss Alta Mae Teter,

MRS. A. H. HALLECK

To Mrs. A. H. Halleck of Orange, is accorded credit for launching the series of annual spring flower shows in Orange Woman's club-house, beginning in 1932 and with this year's event scheduled for April 16 and 17. Mrs. Halleck was president of the club in 1926-27 and has served as parliamentary ever since 1929 with the exception of her one year in the presidency,

MRS. WILLIAM R. WINTERS

Just since last night has the former Miss Maxine Smith answered to the name of Mrs. William R. Winters. The ceremony uniting the young couple in marriage occurred in the manse of Tustin Presbyterian church at 7 o'clock. A reception took place in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Ehrler, 106 Mountain View drive, Tustin. Returning from their honeymoon trip, bridegroom and bride will make their home in a Santa Ana apartment.

MRS. W. H. GRISWOLD JR.

Returning from their honeymoon to the suite awaiting them in Dana Villa, Dana Point, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Griswold Jr. are receiving congratulations on their marriage of April 3. Mrs. Griswold was Miss Mabel Cooper, principal of San Juan Capistrano elementary school, and her wedding to Mr. Griswold, son of the W. H. Griswolds of Salt Lake City, took place in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Cooper of Puente. She will continue teaching until the close of the school year, and Mr. Griswold will commute to his duties in this city with one of the oil companies.

MISS DORIS VAN FOSSEN

Prominent among brides to take their wedding vows at the Easter-tide is lovely Doris Van Fossen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Van Fossen of New Westminster, who at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon will exchange vows with William Lee Ross, in the home of her parents. Miss Van Fossen is a graduate of Garden Grove High school, a member of the class of 1934 when her fiancé also graduated,

Girl Reserves
Fill Hundreds
Of Bun Orders

Hot cross buns by the dozen are arriving in Santa Ana homes today as Girl Reserves deliver the Easter buns for which they have been taking orders for the past few weeks. Deliveries started Thursday, continuing Friday and today. From 12 to 3 o'clock yesterday, Good Friday, no deliveries were made.

Tri-Y Girl Reserves conducted the sale—the first of its kind in Santa Ana—in order that summer recreational and educational programs might be carried on at camp and conference. The girl who has sold the greatest number of buns will have her expenses paid to Camp Torqua, Catalina Island, June 20-27. Camp registration fee will be paid for the girl winning second honors; a Girl Reserve bronze code plate will go to the girl placing third.

Names of the winners will not be revealed until Monday night, when the Tri-Ys will hold a meeting in the Y. W. C. A. rooms. It was announced today by Miss Mary Porter, secretary.

Local bakers are providing the buns, orders for which have been taken by the hundreds since the girls began their campaign. They have set the sale of 2000 dozen buns as their goal.

Chairman Outlines
Programs For Garden Study Club

Mrs. M. E. Goelling, program chairman of Garden Study Club of Santa Ana, outlined the organization's schedule of study for the next several months when members met yesterday with Mrs. Holmes Bishop, Fairhaven avenue.

Plants of foreign countries will provide the general program topic for the club, whose members will study a different country each month beginning early in the summer.

The next meeting day, May 8, will be given over to a trip to the gardens at Huntington Library, San Marino. Members are asked to make reservations for the tour with the secretary, Mrs. Ray Stedman by May 1.

Mrs. Edward Walker, president, conducted the meeting, which followed a luncheon served in the parlors of the home. Hostesses with Mrs. Holmes were Mrs. Eugene Gruettner, Mrs. Guy Reicher and Mrs. C. W. Harrison. A tour of the garden was a feature of the afternoon.

Mrs. Thomas Wylie was a guest. Members present included Mesdames Guy Belcher, R. C. Berger, C. W. Davies, B. W. Ellis, M. E. Goelling, W. L. Grubb, E. J. Gruettner, C. W. Harrison, E. T. Hayden, W. Past Presidents Club

Past Presidents' club members of Sarah A. Rounds tent observed Easter week with a beautifully appointed luncheon Thursday in the home of Mrs. Louane Leech in Orange. Half of the club membership served as hostesses to the club.

Plans were made to hold the next meeting May 14 at 2 p. m. in the home of Miss Minnie Cowan, 214 South Sycamore street.

Present were the president, Mrs. Floss La Bounty, and Mesdames

Easter Sunday
Bridal Service
In Westminster

The Easter motif as applied to decorations in the H. F. Van Fossen home at Westminster, promises to make the wedding of Miss Doris Van Fossen, only daughter of the home, to William Lee Ross of Sunshine Gardens, an event of singular beauty tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A flower banked trellis against draperies of green, will occupy a vantage point well within view of guests gathered in connecting rooms of the home. There the young people will take places for rites to be conducted at 2 o'clock by the Rev. Charles Moore, pastor of Alamitos Friends church. Lohengrin's wedding march will be played by Miss Velda Walker as the bridal party forms.

Miss Van Fossen will wear a lace-trimmed white satin gown on graceful princess lines with sweeping skirt. There will be orange blossoms on her angel-brim hat, and she will carry yellow daffodils showered with lilies-of-the-valley, in response to Mr. Ross' fondness for these yellow blossoms.

Miss Evelina Quill, crowned in soft blue satin and carrying daffodils and diction, will be maid of honor and Charles Woodward, of this city, will be best man.

The rites will complete a childhood romance, as both young people have gone through elementary and high schools together, graduating with the class of 1934 from Garden Grove High school. Mr. Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ross, pioneer residents of Orange county, is a member of the crew of the Portland, one of the cruisers of the Pacific fleet. When he concludes his present term of enlistment, he plans to locate in Fullerton as an automobile mechanic, work for which he is now preparing.

Mr. and Mrs. Van Fossen are complimenting the young couple at a reception immediately after the wedding, and Mrs. Van Fossen is herself decorating the beautiful bride's cake for her only daughter. This towering confection with its star dust of silver candles, its daisies and lilies and miniature bride and groom, will be cut by the bride before she and Mr. Ross depart on a mountain honeymoon.

They will return in time for Mr. Ross to rejoin the Portland before its departure, April 27, for Honolulu.

The invitation list for the wedding and reception includes with the parents of the two young people, the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Mason, Mesdames and Mesdames I. D. Wallingford, Ralph Ross and family, L. L. Bauer, Frank Walker and Miss Velda Walker, Bobs; the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore, Alamitos; Messrs. and Mesdames Charles Warren, Charles Woodward, Grant Eddy, Miss Evalina Quill, Miss Anna Carlson, Miss Nadine Hatfield, Miss Anna Berry and Hobart Brader, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Van Fossen, Bellflower; Messrs. and Mesdames Anaheim; Messrs. and Mesdames R. Hill, J. A. Kelly, Garden Grove; M. Wilson, Thomas Brenner, Lemon Heights; Fred Welch, Earl Chapman, Glenn Norrick, L. L. Maxfield and Mrs. Clara Maxfield, Long Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Lear, Los Angeles.

Lena Hewitt, May Thomas, Elizabeth Adams, Eva Bell, Carrie Smith, Margaret Robertson, Louane Leech, Esther Gardner, Nellie Parker, Edith Moore, Maude Sutton; the Mesdames Bertha Belt and Minnie Cowan.

Rehearsal Dinner Adds
Interest To Easter
Bridal Plans

In anticipation of the wedding on Easter Sunday of Miss Lillian Hansen, daughter of the Robert Hansens of Pomona, and Melvin Witt, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Witt of West La Veta avenue, was the rehearsal dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. Witt Thursday night complimented the young couple in their attractive suburban home.

Bridal decorations of the long table arranged for the accommodation of the entire party, were carried out with sweet peas and sprays of bridal wreath in a large crystal bowl entering the table. Trailing over the damask were graceful fern fronds, linking the central bowl with the smaller bowls of orange blossoms at either end of the candle-lit table.

Tiny brides adorned the place cards, and favors were cellophane bags of rice, tied with ribbons and orange blossoms. Bowls of apricot, sweet peas and lilies were used about the home. Miss Hansen and Mr. Witt took the opportunity to present gifts to their attendants.

An exciting feature was the long distance telephone call when Mrs. Witt's brother, Otto Hansen of Helena, Mont., expressed his good wishes to the bridal couple, and chatted with other members of the family circle. He extended invitation to the young people to visit his home in Helena on their eastern bridal tour, and they plan to accept on their homeward journey.

Later the wedding party sought the First Evangelical church for rehearsal of the rites to take place Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

In the group with Mr. and Mrs. Witt and Robert Hansen, were the affianced pair, Miss Hansen and Melvin Witt, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Schmidt, the Misses Ruth Johnson, Marion Hansen, Ruth Greenwalt, Leola Schroeder and Evelyn Witt; Mesdames Ted Wood, John Burnley and Jack Slagle with her small daughter Renette and little Betty Elliott, the two flower girls; Messrs. and Mesdames Joe Trumpy, Edgar Elsner and son Bobby; George Watson, Messrs. Richard Witt, Lester Kohrs, Herbert Hansen, Robert Hansen, Robert Hafer and Norval Witt.

Luncheon Precedes
Afternoon Of Sewing

Mrs. O. A. Murray was hostess at a pleasant event Wednesday afternoon, entertaining members of the Neighborhood club in her home on Irvine boulevard.

Luncheon was served at a table appointed in colorful pottery and centered with ranunculus. Sewing occupied guests during the afternoon.

In the group with the hostess were Mrs. Roy Rannels, who will be hostess at the May meeting; and Mesdames Ernest Watson, Earl Sharpless, Arthur Trickey, Fenlon Matthews, Hollis Lindsey, Frank Greenwood,

The Rev. Mr. Roberts, pastor of North Long Beach Community church, read the service for which the bride was gowned in filmy genia Huddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Huddle, who on Tuesday night, April 7, was wedded to Stewart McArthur Burnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Burnett of Long Beach, at services in the Wee Kirk O' the Heather, Glendale.

Mrs. Kenneth George Wilkes of Pasadena as matron of honor, wore pale yellow net over taffeta; bridesmaids wore similar gowns, Miss Dorothy Dales of Garden Grove and Miss Meta Frances Lord of Pasadena in sunburst net; Miss Catherine Sacksteder of Tulare and Miss Ernestine Paschke of Ontario, in coral net. All wore corsage clusters of gladiolus blossoms to match the hue of their gowns.

Ensign Dennison Ambrose of the U. S. S. California, was best man, and ushers were Carr McLeod, Long Beach; Albert Brockett, Southgate; Cecil Worth, Lynwood, and Frank Ecklund, Los Angeles.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Burnett will return from their honeymoon in time for the bride to resume her duties as home economics teacher in Ontario schools until the end of the present school year. They will then make their home in this county where Mr. Burnett is associated with his father in the operation of a ranch near Fullerton. His bride attended Santa Ana Junior college after graduation from Garden Grove high school, and completed her training at U. C. L. A. She is an affiliate of Pi Lambda Theta and Omicron Nu sororities.

Mrs. Valley Gives
Reviews Monday

Ebbel society members were recommended today of their opening April program to be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the clubhouse, where Mrs. Jack Valley will give book reviews and current events. Mrs. F. C. Rowland will conduct business matters preceding the program.

"What we shall become in the future depends in the last analysis on what we want," from the book, "Liberty vs. Equality," by William F. Russell, is the quotation heading Mrs. Valley's April book list.

Books by Pearl Buck, Gertrude Atherton, G. B. Stern and other prominent authors are on Mrs. Valley's list for review.

EASTER

THERE is no more inspiring sight than that of hands raised in prayer. Tranquil, composed, supplicating, they embody all that is spiritual and divine. There are hands of the aged; wrinkled and lined with the toil of a lifetime; little blue veins interweaving endlessly to tell of ebbing youth. There are the young man's hands; strong and calloused with the marks of work well done. There are the hands of the girl; fragile, trusting, graceful, soft and white. The hands of the child, so tiny and helpless, so compelling of love and tenderness. Let us all raise our hands in prayer to our God this Easter. For whether they be wrinkled or smooth, strong or weak, calloused or fine, little or brawny, they express to Him the hope, faith, and love of man.

This Movement Is Made Possible by These Outstanding Public Spirited Citizens Who Are Striving to Make Our Community a Better Place in Which to Live.

HOW MUCH SURPLUS?

While the government is considering the taxing of surpluses of corporations, it might be interesting to note how much real surplus corporations have had since 1921.

The National City Bank compiled, from the Treasury returns, the net income and dividends for 13 years of all the corporations of the country. The period covers from 1921 to 1933. It shows that the corporations, since 1921 to and including 1933, paid out $9,700,000,000 more in dividends than the total income of all the corporations, for these 13 years.

The average income of all corporations for the 13 years was $3,200,000,000 a year. If the government took all of the income of the corporations, and the average was the same as it has been for the last 13 years, which it is not, it would not begin to pay the deficit.

We are reproducing below the income by years, dividends paid and the undistributed income for all the country's corporations in the period from 1921 to 1933:

| (In billions of dollars) | | | |
|--------------------------|--------------|-----------|---------------|
| Year | Net Income | Dividends | Undistributed |
| | After taxes. | Paid. | Income |
| 1921 | —$0.0 | $2.7 | —$2.7 |
| 1922 | 4.4 | 2.6 | 1.7 |
| 1923 | 5.8 | 3.3 | 2.5 |
| 1924 | 5.0 | 3.4 | 1.6 |
| 1925 | 7.0 | 4.0 | 3.0 |
| 1926 | 6.8 | 4.4 | 2.3 |
| 1927 | 5.9 | 4.8 | 1.1 |
| 1928 | 7.6 | 5.2 | 2.5 |
| 1929 | 8.1 | 5.8 | 2.3 |
| 1930 | 1.4 | 5.6 | —4.3 |
| 1931 | —3.1 | 4.2 | —7.3 |
| 1932 | —5.4 | 2.6 | —8.0 |
| 1933 | —2.4 | 2.1 | —4.5 |
| Total | 41.0 | 50.7 | —9.7 |
| Average | 3.2 | 3.9 | —0.7 |

As a matter of fact, the corporations did not really earn as much as they show. A lot of these profits, during the prosperity period were not profits at all but were only paper profits. Had they charged the proper amount for depreciation to maintain their properties, after the artificial stimulus of the War had been over, the actual profit would have been much less than shown.

DON'T BE MISLED AGAIN BY MORAL INDIGNATION

While the nations of Europe are spending their money on bombproof dugouts, against the day when it will be necessary to do battle once more for the sacred principles of human liberty, manifest destiny, and profits for the munitions makers, it might be a sound idea for us in America to devise some new defenses against propaganda.

Now, there is propaganda and propaganda; but the kind to guard against most closely is the kind which seeks to arouse your moral indignation. For when a man's moral indignation is once stirred, he ceases to think; after that, he will swallow anything and everything, content to feel rather than to use his gray matter.

Cables from London the other day told how the British government is working up a fine frenzy of indignation because the Italians have been using poison gas and bombing civilians in their war with Ethiopia.

Pitiful details are made public about the women and children who have been blown to bits by Italian bombs. Even more pitiful are the details about the untutored blacks of Haile Selassie's army who have inhaled poison gas and died in agony.

The British government, it is said, is so morally shocked by all this that it is preparing to redouble its efforts to force Mussolini to terms by means of oil and other sanctions.

Now here is a fine bid for our own moral indignation. Ah, those cruel and conscienceless aviators, bombing innocent people, torturing their foes with deadly gases; shouldn't we get furious about it, and do whatever we can to stop outrages?

But wait a bit; there's more coming.

The same cables that brought this news from London told, also, how Mussolini's troops finally had reached the shores of Lake Tana, Lake Tana, if you're not familiar with Ethiopian geography, is the source of the Blue Nile, which makes Egypt and the Sudan fertile. The British have considered it their private preserve for many years. No other power will ever get a foothold by its reedy marge, if the British have anything to say about it.

What, then, is really worrying London—the use of bombs and poison gas, or the presence of the Italian army at Lake Tana?

You are entitled to one guess, and, if you miss, you go to the foot of the class for general stupidity.

This is just a sample. Let your emotions be stirred by the pitiful plight of the bombed Ethiopians, and you will presently find yourself being used to protect England's right to exploit the waters of Lake Tana.

Keep your emotions under control, examine all news from Europe for the presence of a colored gentleman in the woodpile—and you are in much less danger of being sold a brick.

CENTRALIZATION OF POWER

When we consider the rapidity with which local governments are losing their right to govern themselves and this right is being appropriated by the national government, it is well to consider what some of the great leaders of the past have said on this subject.

Thomas Jefferson once said, "When we must wait for Washington to tell us when to sow and when to reap, we shall soon want bread."

George Washington did not believe in centralized control of government. He belonged to the group that believed in local government. He fought the war of independence to free us from the dictatorship of a tyrant king and to establish freedom and liberty.

Thomas Jefferson wrote, "A single consolidated government would become the most corrupt government on earth," as the constitution was being formed. A little later, he said, "Our government is now taking so steady a course as to show by what road it will pass to destruction, to wit, by consolidation first, and then corruption, its necessary consequence." These men thoroughly knew what centralized power meant to the rights and progress of a country. They had had personal experience.

The people of the United States have been so free from domination of a centralized power for so long a period of time that they little realize the danger of centralized government. They do not seem to realize that it can eventually lead to autocracy, bureaucracy or mediocrity.

Those who are so insistent on centralized power are using the smoke screen of fomenting class hatred to bring this about. When they accuse all those who object to this centralization of power of being tools of special interest and asking whether they want people to starve, they are only diverting the attention from the real issue. If their position is sound, they should not be afraid of opposing views.

No one, of course, wants people to starve. That is the exact reason they are opposing centralization of power and the paying of people for being idle and keeping land idle. Those who are opposing well know that if this policy continues, there will be people starving. That is the reason every conscientious citizen who is now seeking office and has no ax to grind, and is not seeking popularity, is opposing the policy of destruction of wealth and a centralization of power. They well know that what Thomas Jefferson once said is bound to happen, if this continues.

Our schools seem filled with young people who do not honor those that have given up their lives for the flag of their country, which represents everything we hold dear in the United States. We can hardly blame the young people when in their training the parents and teachers furnish books, literature and instruction which fall to teach the basic principles of citizenship.

I think we should feel sorry instead of laughing that we have come to that time when we fail to honor fathers and mothers and others who have given their lives to protect our schools, churches, homes and the liberty which we enjoy.

We have at this time many who would like to see our army and navy abolished so it would be easier to change our form of government. No sane person wants war. Guess I was born thirty years too soon and trained wrong to see anything funny about this as you do.

The Prophet

Day By Day In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1935)

WASHINGTON, April 11.—The most serious aspect of the proposed tax on future undivided earnings of companies is coming to light from unexpected quarters — the banks of the country.

Considerable opposition is forecast, particularly when the tax bill reaches the senate, though just why members of the house of representatives should allow the credit position of many sound American businesses to be weakened and leave the job of averting such dangers to the upper house is inexplicable except on one ground, namely that the administration will not permit the house to assert itself but will insist on the passage of the measure.

The situation that exists in many thousands of company credit situations is that loans have been made by the banks with the understanding that they may be paid back in two or three years. In most instances the loans are put on a six-, ten- or nine-month basis, with an understanding that there will be renewals. There also are informal understandings as to when the notes will be paid off.

But a company which makes, for instance, $100,000 in profits and owes the banks $75,000 would ordinarily get rid of the bank loan before paying anything to the stockholders in the form of dividends. Under the proposed tax, the company would face a heavy penalty unless it distributed the earnings to the stockholders. If it therefore did what the government wanted done, the banks might feel as a duty to their own stockholders that they must call the loan and force the company into a receivership in order to put pressure on the company and prevent it from complying with the purpose of the tax law, which is to force distribution of undivided earnings.

Then there's the case of the company with a bond issue outstanding and with earnings sufficient each year to pay sinking fund requirements, but bank credit has been extended on the theory that, aside from sinking fund, the company would have sufficient left each year out of earnings to retire the bond. When the company is compelled to pay out its earnings in the form of dividends, it means a change in the credit rating or credit position of the company with the bank loan outstanding.

The entire credit situation may have to be revised in respect to many otherwise sound and solvent companies because the government in effect says that it shall be subordinated to the payment of dividends to stockholders. There is, of course, talk of providing by amendment to take care of such situations, but unfortunately there are few signs as yet that the house of representatives is aware of the dangers involved.

Approximately $36,000,000,000 is outstanding in loans today in the company and about one-fifth of that sum, namely $5,200,000,000, is what is known technically as the "slow" classification. The definition of "slow" which the bank examiners use now is not what it used to be because there have been excluded from its companies with an excellent financial situation whose borrowings are not to be paid back in two or three years. In other words, the word "slow" no longer refers necessarily to the time in which the loan has to be amortized. So probably the total sum of loans possibly affected by the proposed undivided earnings tax may run well above $5,200,000,000.

Every bank will have to consider whether, in view of the compulsory distribution of earnings—for the rate is so prohibitive that it will become virtually compulsory—the amount retained by each company as surplus is sufficient to warrant a continuance of credit.

Nearly every bank, in making loans, has a written or unwritten understanding to the effect that the credit may not be renewed if there is any material change in a company's condition. The tax problem will make such a material change in thousands upon thousands of cases and this will reopen the whole question of whether the credit given is or is not properly secured, whether additional collateral shall be demanded, and whether the company's policy of distributing dividends gives protection to the bank and how much protection.

The reason why a flat corporation tax is simpler is that, even if it is a heavy tax, it does not involve the problem of discretion in the handling of earnings. Heretofore, the bank as a creditor has always had a much more advantageous relationship to future profits than the stockholder. When interest and retirement on principal had been taken care of, then the stockholder or equity owner usually came into the picture. The federal government, under the new deal, would now reverse the policy and put the stockholders first — not because the latter insist on it but because it is mistakenly reasoned that the federal government will get more in taxes. Actually, what will happen is that money that should go toward payment of back debt or toward the accumulation of more working capital so as to avoid future borrowings will be forced into dividend distributions.

Strong companies with surpluses already accumulated and in a strong cash position will be able to make more profit. They will be able to maintain their prices while weaker companies will have to add the extra taxes to their cost of doing business. This, contrary to new deal philosophy, the rich will grow richer and the poor will grow poorer—at least so far as the small businesses of the country are concerned, which depend on bank credit because they do not have sufficient working capital to get along without borrowing. Nor will they, if the proposed tax becomes law, get a chance to build up a sizable surplus because the government wants the profits to flow annually to the stockholders and will impose a penalty tax to bring about such a distribution of earnings.

This, contrary to new deal philosophy, the rich will grow richer and the poor will grow poorer—at least so far as the small businesses of the country are concerned, which depend on bank credit because they do not have sufficient working capital to get along without borrowing. Nor will they, if the proposed tax becomes law, get a chance to build up a sizable surplus because the government wants the profits to flow annually to the stockholders and will impose a penalty tax to bring about such a distribution of earnings.

Strong companies with surpluses already accumulated and in a strong cash position will be able to make more profit. They will be able to maintain their prices while weaker companies will have to add the extra taxes to their cost of doing business. Little Renny's
Note Book

By LEE PAPE

We was eating breakfast and ma said to pop, "Certain things just seem to be fate, Willium, and I believe being over weight is one of them. I mean really fate, that there's no use questioning or trying to do anything about. What I mean is, with all the dozens of reducing systems to put on weight, meen man cant stop her, she said."

Mr. Gandhi still seems to be succeeding pretty well over in India, pop said, and ma said, "He's a special case and he exaggerates. I can give you case after case among my own friends to prove my point, in fact I can give you 2 cases on the spur of the moment. First take Maud Hews. She tried the worst system. Everybody knows that worrying is supposed to cut the appetite, and Maud made a special point of thinking up things to worry about before every meal, which wasn't very difficult for her because she's a natural worrier anyway, and yet all it seemed to do was sap her vitality so that she had to eat an extra amount to get her strength and spirits back, ma said."

Probably you have to be able to worry about where the next meal is coming from to get any real good out of the system, pop said, and ma said, "And take the case of Blanche Hippie. She based her diet on the universal principal that if you persistently eat between meals you'll come to the table hardly able to nibble. So she spent the day eating snacks and snacks and even raided the icebox the last thing at nite so as to spoil her breakfast, and although it was true that she could hardly eat a thing at mealtimes, her general average weight went merrily up instead of down. So what's a use, Willium, I believe I'll just stop trying, ma said."

It sounds reasonable, pop said. Personally I'm worried about the amount of coffee I've been drinking. Would you mind pouring me another cup? he said.

Wich ma did with a absent minded expression.
